It's 'Back To Normal'

Mercury Slated To Skid, With Snowfall Scheduled

The Miami Beach weather that sent temperatures into the 50's in the East Liverpool area over the weekend is due to come to a sudden halt this afternoon, with falling temperatures and an accumulation of an inch or two of snow, the Ohio forecaster said.

Convertible tops were down in the bright, sunny weather yesterday and some hardy souls braved the outdoors in shorts and similar sports attire. The weather seemed positively "tropical" after the below-zero readings of last week.

Last night also was mild, with a low of 43 in the downtown area early this morning.

But a heavy rain began falling shortly after dawn, forerunner of the afternoon's snow, according to the forecaster.

The rain was scheduled to change to snow in Western Ohio this morning, accumulating a total of 2-4 inches. As the storm line moves east, the rain will change to snow in this area, the weatherman said.

The high today will be 37 to 43, a mark that already has been reached in East Liverpool.

It will be cloudy, cold and windy this afternoon, with snow easing off into flurries by tonight, the weatherman said. The overnight low will be 20-25.

Tuesday will be mostly cloudy and cold with snow flurries in the eastern section of the state, the weatherman said.

Although the temperature was above freezing when the rain started this morning, motorists said it formed ice in some spots, notably in rural areas and on the Wellsville Rd. Some brick sidewalks in the downtown area also were glazed with a thin coat of ice.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The United States and common market nations will initial a sweeping agreement to cut tariffs on many industrial products Tuesday, informed sources said today.

The informants confirmed reports that cuts of about 20 per cent on some industrial items are foreseen.

As to U.S. agricultural products, they will be considered in later negotiations between the United States and the European Economic Community, the formal name for the six-nation common market, these sources reported. They will involve wheat, corn and poultry.

The agreement will be initialed by Howard Peterson, special adviser to President Kennedy; and Jean Rey, member of the EEC in charge of foreign relations.

The agreement cannot become final until it is approved unanimously by the EEC council of ministers, informants said. U.S. sources said the agreement also has to go back to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade

Hanoverton Police Set Interview With Injured Driver, 32

HANOVERTON — Patrolman Roy Painter said today he expects to talk Tuesday with Wayne Hillyer, 32, of Hanoverton, driver of a car which plunged through the side of a tavern here early Saturday, killing one patron and injuring three others.

Hillyer is in Youngstown South Side Hospital awaiting surgery for a fractured jaw. Painter said Hillyer is unable to talk yet, but said he was informed by a doctor that he may be allowed to see him tomorrow.

Mr. McIntosh was seated at the bar with his wife, Mrs. Mary Margaret McAllister McIntosh, 32, who remains in "critical" condition today at Salem Central Clinic with injuries suffered in the freak mishap.

Also injured were Carl Weber of Dungannon, also seated at the bar, and Mrs. Annabelle Hohider, co-owner of the tavern with her husband, Charles Hohider, who was behind the bar. Both were admitted to Salem City Hospital.

Giant Balloon Breaks Apart In Space Try

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A huge space balloon broke apart hundreds of miles above the Atlantic today as it was inflating to the size of a 13-story building.

The breakup of the big balloon—dubbed "Big Shot" — showered several pieces of aluminum coated plastic into the ocean about 600 miles southeast of the Cape. The pieces, illuminated brilliantly by the rays of the rising sun, provided a spectacular show for observers.

The 500-pound bundle of plastic sheeting was folded neatly in a canister in the nose of a Thor rocket which blasted off at 6:06 a.m. in an experiment aimed at testing techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite.

A few minutes after the launch, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the balloon had separated from the Thor and had started to inflate. But a short while later

Navy Ship Delivers Helicopters To Aid Fight Against Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —A U.S. Navy ship arrived today with two large Army helicopters and several observation planes to aid the forces of President Ngo Dinh Diem against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The aircraft ferry Breton, a converted carrier, also had seven jet fighters and a Neptune flying boat bomber on her deck, but these were to be taken to Yokosuka Naval Air Station in Japan, U.S. sources said.

Four jets bearing the markings of the U.S. Air Force 109th Fighter Squadron landed today at Saigon airport, but U.S. sources declined to comment on them.

Affidavits accusing George Sims Jr. of E. Church Alley and William F. Russell, 417 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, of "maliciously and forcibly breaking and entering. . .with intent to steal" were signed today by Police Capt. R. H. Pyle.

Sims was picked up by police early Friday for questioning and admitted his participation to Capt. Pyle and Chief Americo Radeschi while Russell is serving out a $200 fine in Wellsville jail on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident late last month, officers said.

Angola Issue Divides U.S. And Portugal

New Friction Seen Between 2 Nations On Debate In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Renewed U.N. debate on Angola today puts a new strain on ties between the United States and its Atlantic ally Portugal.

The debate was the first major business as the General Assembly resumes its 16th annual session after a Christmas recess.

Asian and European diplomats said U.S. delegates had told them it hoped the 104-nation assembly would adopt a moderate, meaningful resolution that would push the Portuguese toward self-determination for Angola.

But Portugal contended that the assembly had no right to even discuss its big West African territory. It maintained that all Portuguese overseas territories are provinces, not colonies, and their control is a domestic matter outside the assembly's jurisdiction.

There was speculation that the Portuguese delegation would boycott the Angola debate as it did on a similar occasion last April. Sources in Lisbon have predicted that Portugal would quit the

Congo Censures Pro-Red Gizenga

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo Parliment by an overwhelming majority censured Antoine Gizenga today for his defiance of the central Congo government. The pro-Communist deputy premier was a virtual prisoner of U.N. and Congolese forces encircling his residence in Stanleyville.

The government announced Gizenga had agreed to end his self-imposed exile and return to Leopoldville by this Saturday after his personal bodyguard surrendered Sunday to congolese troops. His capitulation came too late to avert the parliamentary wrath.

After a brief but angry debate, the vote in the Chamber of Deputies was 67 for the censure motion, a single vote against it, and one abstention.

The parliamentary action left the way open for Premier Cyrille Adoula to oust Gizenga from the deputy premiership he accepted last August but never actually filled.

One deputy said Gizenga's gendarmes who battled Congolese troops in Stanleyville over the weekend were in every way comparable to the foreign mercenaries fighting for President Moise Tshombe in Katanga Province.

Nearly 300 of Gizenga's gendarmes — his military army in Stanleyville—have been disarmed and taken prisoner by central government troops a U.N. spokesman reported.

One platoon of about 25 remains to be neutralized, but they were being rounded up in the bush around Stanleyville, he added.

Up to the end of fighting yesterday 14 Congolese troops were reported killed.

Senators Set To Eye U.N. Finance Plan

Rusk Briefing May Include Airing Of Bond Sale Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk goes to Capitol Hill today to brief members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on world trouble spots. One possible subject for discussion is proposed U.S. purchase of U.N. bonds.

Rusk appears before a closed session of the committee as Congress members continue to voice their opinions of President Kennedy's proposal for authority to purchase half of a $200-million U.N. bond issue.

The 25-year, 2-per cent bonds would help pay the cost of U.N. operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

A Democrat, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, has been vocal and persistent in his opposition to the idea. Sunday a Republican, Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, swung behind it.

"We've committed ourselves to it. We're in it and I'll vote for it," he said of the U.N. financing plan.

But, Cooper added on a television interview—CBS — "Washington Conversation"—the United States should inform all nations it will not continue such aid unless they pay up their U.N. assessments.

Terror Stalks Algerian Streets In New Violence

ALGIERS (AP) — In this city of death, Albatross regularly flashes an alert for Chicago.

Sirens scream and police cars speed through the streets. French or Moslem terrorists have found new victims.

Albatross is the Algiers police radio network. Chicago means a shooting by Moslem or European terrorists.

Every day at 6 p.m., in a half-abandoned government building guarded by five armored cars, seven half-tracks and a company of gendarmes, the day's toll of dead is read.

A young civil servant trainee puts together what is known as "the hunting board".

The countrywide weekend toll just before the 11 p.m. curfew Sunday night was 48 dead, including 35 Moslems and 13 Europeans, and 116 wounded, including 68 Moslems and 48 Europeans.

At night, darkness and silence shroud the ancient Moslem Casbah that no European dares enter.

On an adjacent street, near a half-filled garbage can, an old Moslem beggar lies motionless. A steel-helmeted French soldier walks slowly by, reporting over his walkie-talkie that all is quiet.

Nearby, in an officer's club, the transfer back to France of a commander is celebrated. Champagne toasts are raised.

In a brightly lit apartment near the university, carpets are rolled up while a record player blares late American tunes. Someone shows the twist and 10 European couples try to imitate the movement. The girls in bare-shouldered dresses smell of fine perfume. The jovial hosts pour champagne and whisky.

"We are winning," says one of the Frenchmen, a supporter of the right-wing Secret Army Organization. "The government has to deal with us. The rebels are finished."

Others just want to dance, to drink and to laugh, as if time is running out.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A brawny, six-foot skindiver told his wife, "I probably won't be back. I figure a shark will get me."

Floyd Pair Jr., 29, a Sacramento, Calif., milkman said it as a joke but he almost foretold his fate. Only the ending turned out differently.

"I went down to about 40 feet," Pair recounted. "I chased a fish, lost him, decided to surface.

"Then it hit me, just as I surfaced. At first I thought it was a seal. But a seal doesn't have a mouth that big. It was brown, and every inch of 14 feet long. It hit me from the right side and started shaking me like a dog plays with a bone.

"I saw that it was a shark. I remember thinking first that it didn't hurt. Then I half remembered something I had read by a

$35 Million Estimated For Social Security Aid

According to an estimate by William J. McCauley, district manager of the Youngstown office, residents in Mahoning and Columbiana Counties received Social Security benefit payments of over $35 million in 1961.

McCauley estimated that 30,600 beneficiaries received $2,162,000 per month in Mahoning and 2,200 beneficiaries received $793,000 per month in Columbiana, representing a total of 42,800 persons receiving $35,460,000 during the year.

All types of benefit payments are included in these figures McCauley said. They include retirement, wives 62 years of age or over, young widows with children under 18 years of age in their care, children under 18 years, dependent widowers, dependent parents and disability payments.

McCauley said that the estimates were based on completed tabulations as to the number of beneficiaries and amount of monthly benefits in current pay status for the year ending Dec. 31, 1960, when 26,684 persons received $1,930,358 each month in Mahoning County and 10,601 persons received $708,111 each month in Columbiana County. Tabulations for Columbiana County shown:

Old Age, 5,598 persons, $438,382 per month; disability, 303, $28,168; wives, 1,694, $77,093; disability, 53, $2,137; children, 1,180, $63,800; disability, 110, $4,058; widows, 1,364, $80,794; mothers, 279, $18,292; parents, 20, $1,387 for totals of 10,601 persons and $708,111 monthly.

The estimates for 1961 include some major changes in the law recently passed by Congress, which allows optional retirement for men at age 62 with benefits reduced accordingly, increased the minimum benefit paid to retired workers from $33 to $40 per month, increased benefits paid aged widows by 10 per cent and relaxed requirements for insured eligibility.

Also, beginning in 1961, most people who receive Social Security benefits and work will have less benefits withheld. If a beneficiary earns $1,200 or less in a year, he can receive all his monthly payments. If earnings are over $1,200, some money is withheld. Under the new law $1 will be withheld for each $2 earned from $1,200 to $1,700 and $1 withheld for each $1 earned over $1,700.

There is no change in the provision that regardless of how much a beneficiary earns in a year, he will get a benefit check for any month in which he neither earns more than $100 in wages nor performs substantial services in self-employment. Beneficiaries age 72 or older will continue to receive their benefits, regardless of their earnings.

There are four times when it is especially important to consult your Social Security office, McCauley said:

1—If a worker in your family died.

2—If you are totally and permanently disabled.

3—Shortly before you reach age 62.

4—When you are 72.

Midland Intruder Gets Money And Cigarettes

An undetermined amount of money and cigarettes was taken from a cigarette vending machine in a breaking and entering of the Hi-Way Oil Co. on Route 68, west of Midland, sometime Sunday night.

Bernard Zlatovich, Ohioville police officer, said the burglary was discovered by George Peebles of East Palestine, the manager, at 6 a. m. today.

Zlatovich said entry was made by breaking a window. Several months ago, the service station was burglarized and its safe was stolen.

County Crash Victim Faces $100,000 Bill

A $100,000 hospital bill has piled up against a 22-year-old West Virginia native who has been paralyzed from the waist down since he was hurt in a highway crash more than 18 months ago on Route 30 west of Lisbon.

Ronald Dively, who was working for a Lisbon area farmer at the time he was hurt, still is a patient at the South Side Hospital in Youngstown. His physicians said he is not considered recovered sufficiently to be released.

Dively's spinal column was crushed and his left lung was punctured when a tractor-trailer rig smashed into a wagonload of sacked oats on which he was riding. He has undergone surgery five times.

The wagon on which he was riding had been coverted from an old auto chassis with a flat bed attached. When the tractor-trailer rig hit it from the rear, the crankshaft from the old vehicle was driven through his chest, injuring his lung and spine. The crash took place June 29, 1960.

Physicians said there is permanent damage to his lower limbs and there is little hope he will walk again.

Two months after the accident, Dively's attorney filed a $325,000 personal injury suit in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon against the driver of the truck which hit the farm wagon. It still is pending. The driver, Henry Deitrick, 32, of Detroit, pleaded guilty to a reckless operation charge and was fined $25.

Dively said he had been in the Lisbon area only 10 days before the accident. His father lives in Detroit, his mother is in Maryland and a sister resides in Altoona, Pa.

PARKERSBURG (AP) — Search is under way here to locate William G. Shackelford, a business executive missing since last Wednesday. Shackelford, 41, is the president of the Kootz and Stroehman Machine Co., Inc. He was last seen in a Parkersburg restaurant before a scheduled trip to Clarksburg.

De-Icer Seen As Source Of Roof Sparks

Three investigations in less than 60 minutes kept city firemen busy Sunday night.

Firemen used the aerial ladder to check the roof of the Rapport Building at E. 6th and Washington Sts. shortly before 7 after Patrolman Orin Smith spotted sparks coming from the roof.

Investigation showed electric wires used to keep the gutters ice-free had burned and were shorting out.

While firemen were checking the roof, a call concerning a grass fire on the hillside between the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks was received at 7:13.

Using the department's radio system, two men were recalled from the building investigation to fight the fire, which was quelled quickly.

The department also had received the report of a dump fire at the rear of Spring Grove Cemetery, but investigation showed grave - diggers had built the fire to keep warm, firemen said.

Firemen were called Saturday at 2:30 p. m. to quell a grass fire on Pennsylvania Railroad property at Persimmon and Center Alleys. Children had set fire to a 25-gallon drum which had contained kerosene and the flames ignited the grass, firemen said.

Firemen also were called twice Saturday to turn off water at area homes.

They were called to the home of Charles Bebout, 834 Fairview St., late Saturday morning to turn off water at the curb box because of a broken line and to the home of C. F. Howell, 109 Fawcett St., early in the afternoon when a frozen pipe burst and allowed water to escape into the basement.

Judge Gets Thanks

LISBON — Supt. T. L. Fultz of the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster thanked Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin and the Columbiana County residents who sent presents to the institution for Christmas presents for the inmates. He said he felt that the boys thought that society hasn't forgotten them, even if some of their relatives have.

3 City Boys Wait Lisbon Hearings

Three East Liverpool boys will be arraigned Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon for the theft of six autos and three burglaries.

The youths, two 15-year-olds from East Liverpool and a 17-year - old from Dixonville, and their parents appeared Saturday before Juvenile Officer Chris Pusey at City Hall.

They confessed the theft of six cars and breaking and entering the used car office of Litten Motor Sales on Walnut St., Arb Motor Sales on Pennsylvania Ave. and the Beaver Local Elementary School near Williamsport, police said.

The car thefts and burglaries were solved by police and deputy sheriffs after Deputies Herman (Cy) Wellman and Ronald Gause halted one 15-year-old in a stolen car on the Y. & O. Rd. near Glenmoor Friday night.

During questioning, he implicated the other two, who were taken into custody by police.

Americans every year spend more than $266 billion on personal goods and services, of which $81 billion go for food, tobacco and alcohol alone.

Investigation showed electric wires used to keep the gutters ice-free had burned and were shorting out.

While firemen were checking the roof, a call concerning a grass fire on the hillside between the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks was received at 7:13.

Using the department's radio system, two men were recalled from the building investigation to fight the fire, which was quelled quickly.

The department also had received the report of a dump fire at the rear of Spring Grove Cemetery, but investigation showed grave - diggers had built the fire to keep warm, firemen said.

Firemen were called Saturday at 2:30 p. m. to quell a grass fire on Pennsylvania Railroad property at Persimmon and Center Alleys. Children had set fire to a 25-gallon drum which had contained kerosene and the flames ignited the grass, firemen said.

Firemen also were called twice Saturday to turn off water at area homes.

They were called to the home of Charles Bebout, 834 Fairview St., late Saturday morning to turn off water at the curb box because of a broken line and to the home of C. F. Howell, 109 Fawcett St., early in the afternoon when a frozen pipe burst and allowed water to escape into the basement.

Judge Gets Thanks

LISBON — Supt. T. L. Fultz of the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster thanked Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin and the Columbiana County residents who sent presents to the institution for Christmas presents for the inmates. He said he felt that the boys thought that society hasn't forgotten them, even if some of their relatives have.

3 City Boys Wait Lisbon Hearings

Three East Liverpool boys will be arraigned Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon for the theft of six autos and three burglaries.

The youths, two 15-year-olds from East Liverpool and a 17-year - old from Dixonville, and their parents appeared Saturday before Juvenile Officer Chris Pusey at City Hall.

They confessed the theft of six cars and breaking and entering the used car office of Litten Motor Sales on Walnut St., Arb Motor Sales on Pennsylvania Ave. and the Beaver Local Elementary School near Williamsport, police said.

The car thefts and burglaries were solved by police and deputy sheriffs after Deputies Herman (Cy) Wellman and Ronald Gause halted one 15-year-old in a stolen car on the Y. & O. Rd. near Glenmoor Friday night.

During questioning, he implicafed the other two, who were taken into custody by police.

All It Takes Is One Dissenter

Rarely is there the depth of agreement on anything in this country that has emerged on the importance of controlling pay and price hikes.

Sylvia Porter, whose comments on economic matters are restrained, declares that "what's being asked is common sense restraint by Big Business and Big Labor and loyalty to our system."

She warns that if we get yawns instead of cooperation, the United States is heading for disaster.

Victor Riesel says Secretary of Labor Goldberg intends to devote much of his time to speaking and writing in behalf of self-imposed restraint; that the former AFL-CIO counsel will advocate the "middle way" practiced by Swedish labor and industry.

Every business and trade publication, every commentator on economics has had something to say recently about the importance of holding down wages and prices compared with the possibility that wages and prices may rise and thereby start a fresh round of value deflation.

NO ONE has mentioned the steel industry for months without plunging into speculation about the industry's 1962 contract with the steel union. President Kennedy has asked for restraint. Commentators have delved into the reasons the steel industry has not raised prices thus far, despite automatic wage and benefit increases. And their delving always has produced the same net observation—that management must recover its cost of production and if these continue to rise throughout the life of the steel industry's next contract with the Steelworkers Unions prices will have to be raised.

All it takes is one dissenter to shatter the speculative proposition that the United States could continue to have a rising rate of business without serious inflation if it practiced intelligent restraint—if it put loyalty to its system—ahead of immediate advantage.

All it would take is one overt move to cause rejoicing among competitors of U.S. wage earners in other countries. If they could be sure the United States is incapable of practicing restraint, they would have no need to worry about competition for markets. U.S. goods would be priced beyond the reach of most potential consumers.

IF THE ONLY effect of whatever efficiency can be added to U.S. production is going to be fatter profits and higher wages, with nothing passed along to consumers in the form of lower prices—the original concept of mass consumption for mass production—the United States can say goodbye to its ambition to contend in all the marketplaces of the world.

The question is literally whether Americans believe sufficiently in their system to be loyal to it in a showdown.

The answer is, of course, that most Americans do have this kind of belief. But Americans have free choice. There is always the possibility the pattern of loyalty and restraint will be destroyed by a headstrong act.

The government has no authority to say what must be done. It can cajole. It can plead. It can threaten. But it cannot prevent; it cannot forbid. And it cannot punish.

The disaster that Sylvia Porter speaks of is no further away than the impulse to yawn and sneer at the idea that the welfare of the United States should be placed above the narrow interests of one block of wage earners or one group of managers and shareholders.

Now Is The Time

With five already having filed, lively races seem assured for the nomination as mayor on both the Republican and Democratic tickets in Chester's primary April 3.

The interest displayed to date in the various races is gratifying and must be stimulating a lot of thought among others on whether to seek nomination for one of the various posts that will be at stake.

The responsibility of municipal office can be great or it can be trivial, depending upon the officeholder and upon the community attitude toward its own government. A community which hopes to improve, which seeks to progress in all phases of municipal activity, from street repairs to higher civic standards, must continue to name men and women of ability and integrity.

Men and women capable of serving should not shirk the challenge of political contest—this is the fundamental competition on which American-style democracy is based and provides the selectivity out of which comes community policy.

Nor should the individual voter shirk his or her responsibility. Now is the time to begin measuring the various candidates, not the day before the primary. Sound them out on the issues that you feel are of paramount concern. Analyze their views on key problems. Then make your choices on the basis of what you have learned.

A haphazard approach to an election—primary or general—often brings the same kind of government.

The Hard Way

Four teen-agers were picked up in a stolen car and taken to the police station here for questioning.

Three, who had gone along merely for the ride, were not aware that the car had been stolen and were released after questioning convinced officers of their innocence.

There's this moral to the story — do your best to use sound judgment in situations where sound judgment is called for. Quite often one can become the victim of the company one keeps.

The three innocent youngsters have learned a lesson the hard way. Others should benefit from their experience.

One To Grow On!

Reform Eyed For Federal Grants

By Raymo nd Moley

In a singularly moving book, "The Sovereign States," James Jackson Kilpatrick notes that in the Virginia Convention in 1788, which was debating the ratification of the new constitution of the United States, a bitter argument took place between Patrick Henry and an aging and crippled Edmund Pendleton.

Henry, with his customary violent eloquence, contended that under the proposed constitution a grasping federal government would seize the powers of the states one by one.

Pendleton contended that "the two governments were established for different purposes, and act on different objects. . . . They can no more clash than two parallel lines can meet." Henry was right. Pendleton's geometry didn't work.

Those were battles long ago and there were fire and color in them. So, indeed, are the conflicts in so many places in the South where a few Negro children seek admission to an all-white school.

IN THESE early days in January, when the newspapers are full of news about state, city, and federal budgets, we perceive no color or drama—only figures meaningless to most and confusing even to the expert.

But those figures, together with the various messages of the governors of the states reporting to their legislatures the state or financial affairs, embody a threat more serious than the barring of certain schools against Negro children.

In good time those schools will be open to all qualified scholars but once the states are utterly dependent upon federal funds to serve their people and in every state and local government the prying hands of federal bureaucrats take over, the separate identity of federal and state authority will be a fiction and the American people will have lost their mastery of their own affairs.

There is progress toward admitting qualified Negro children to all schools but the rights of the states in all other respects are being rapidly destroyed.

Their progressive decay is accomplished by the twin forces of the loss of their sources of taxation to the federal octopus and their acceptance of larger and more grants-in-aid.

CONSIDER the stark reality of this expropriation. A central government, itself created by the original 13 states, is telling the people of the states that they are not fit to tax and thus have the money to serve their collective interests.

Uncle Sam is saying in effect: "I will take the money from your citizens and then give some back to you, telling you exactly what you can do with these 'gifts.' And to make sure that you don't make mistakes, we will loose upon you a horde of bureaucrats." Consider the impudence of this.

It is an old human weakness. When liberty is suffocated by the sweet smell of "free" money, the victim dies happy.

When William H. Taft was president, federal grants to the states amounted to only $3 million. This rose to $33 million in 1920. In 1941 it was $836 million. In 1952 it was $3,176 million.

In that year, Candidate Eisenhower took note of this federal speech or two.

After he was President he created, through Congress, an Intergovernmental Relations Commission. The commission made a report, and Congress ignored it.

THE GRANTS continued to grow and in the present year will reach, counting all items—direct budget expenditures, trust fund payments, shared revenues, and the like—the tremendous sum of $8 billion.

The former research director of the Eisenhower Intergovernmental Commission, George C. S. Benson, and Prof. Harold F. McClelland have just written a report on the subject which is published by the American Enterprise Association in Washington.

They note the peril to our institutions in the growth of handouts to the states and local communities.

They also recognize that the best of all solutions is to return certain stolen tax sources to the states and thus let them care for themselves.

But pending that, they suggest two reforms that make a lot of sense. The better of the two is to give the states a general grant, without strings and let them spend it as they wish. After all, it is money which came from the citizens of the states concerned. Another plan would be "consolidated grants," which would be for general items such as health, highways, etc., which the states could manage themselves.

TWO GOOD results would come from either plan. The federal bureaucracy would be taken out of the affairs of the states. Also, the big pressure organizations which are encamped in Washington as lobbies in Congress would have to spread themselves into 50 state capitols. Thus decentralized, they would have less power.

The principle involved is to keep the government closer to the people who are taxed. Nobody can quarrel with that idea—except, of course, the majority of this Congress and the ever-grasping federal bureaucracy.

Mexico 'Soaks' Rich

By Bert Quint

MEXICO CITY

The Mexican government, faced with mounting bills and dwindling reserves, is putting into effect a series of tax reforms aimed at making the country's small wealthy class carry a larger share of the financial burden.

Until now, taxes have been a minor item for the Mexican businessman and industrialist as well as for the wage earner and professional accounting for only about one-tenth of the national income.

Starting this year, Mexico hopes to bring that figures closer to the 30 per cent more highly industrialized countries obtain.

There are two principal reasons for this change.

On the one hand, uncertain political and economic policies have brought a significant drop in foreign and domestic investment and in tourism from abroad, especially from the United States.

On the other, Mexico is counting strongly on large sums of money from the Alliance for Progress to get its economy moving again and the United States has made it clear that it does not intend to tax its people heavily to help countries that tax their own only to a small degree.

The most important feature of the reforms is the step being taken toward a full income tax; that is, toward taxing the total earnings of a citizen rather than just parts of them. In the past, for example, he would be taxed a certain amount on his agricultural earnings, another on his industrial income and still a third on his commercial profits.

So that the change could not be too drastic, it has been ordered that it apply only to persons or companies earning a total of more than 180,000 pesos ($14,400) per year and that the surtax not be levied where income taxes paid under the various schedules would exceed 30 per cent of the taxable income.

Another significant change is in the computation of capital gains taxes.

Previously, only gains from the sale of land and buildings which formed part of the fixed assets of an industrial, agricultural or commercial firm were taxed — a flat 20 per cent. Now, profits from the sale of any land and building are to be taxed. The tax will run from 5 to 20 per cent, depending on the time the property been held and the amount of the gains.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By George Lichty

Kennedy's Weakness

By David Lawrence

President Seen Lacking Economic Realism

Confidence is a many-sided and elusive thing. An administration may readily boast of why it has won the confidence of the country but isn't always so sure of the reasons when that same confidence is lost.

David Lawrence

The Kennedy administration may show up well on Gallup Polls but the sad truth is that it has failed to win the confidence of the numerically small roster of men who operate every day the economy of the United States. They are the businessmen who must borrow money and risk capital for new plants or for the development of new markets. They are the men who are responsible for attaining profit margins that will attract investors. They are also the men whose ingenuity and planning ability result in the creation of more and more jobs.

Today the unemployment problem — according to figures just released — shows no signs of being solved. The stock market is sagging. Anxiety among businessmen is widespread.

There is a prospect of another steel strike and possibly another retardation of the economy as a whole.

Why is President Kennedy not making headway on this front? He is personally cordial to businessmen and to everybody else. He is earnest and sincere. He is trying hard to make good.

But when it comes to an understanding of what makes the wheels go round in business, his education as President has not progressed far enough for him to recognize the true weakness of his own administration.

Mr. Kennedy is often torn between the conflicting viewpoints of his advisers. Most of them are alert minded and forward looking and want to do everything possible to make the Kennedy administration succeed but they are novices in the practical field of government operations as well as in the perplexing tasks involved in getting new legislation approved by the people's representatives in Congress.

IT SEEMS startling and hard to realize but there is not a single adviser on economic matters at the President's side, either in the Cabinet or in the unofficial cabinet, who has had any experience as the actual head of a really large business.

Secretary of Defense McNamara has had a few years of such contacts but he is not charged by the President with the responsibility for making economic policy.

The President's words in his many speeches and messages have set forth the desirable goals in eloquent fashion. But the words have become meaningless in the absence of concrete action that is based on the everyday facts of business progress.

Mr. Kennedy has failed signally on the labor - management front. It is not what he has done but what he has failed to do, that counts.

While the President has been occupying himself largely with foreign policy matters, he has not perceived the real reason why the challenge of the Common Market in Europe can wind up in a big failure for the American economy. The reason is simple —the chaos on the labor management front in America.

BERNARD BARUCH, in a book he wrote a few years ago called "Public Affairs," describes trenchantly the wage price spiral as follows:

"By abusing its powers, labor injures not only itself but the whole country. While it is the proper concern of union leaders to improve the lot of their followers, they must recognize that their demands must be economically justified. If wage and other demands are not accompanied by increasing productivity, inevitably prices will be driven out of reach, and foreign competition encouraged, to the detriment of the entire economy. American workers will wind up as the highest-paid unemployed workers in the world. In America we are already feeling the pinch resulting from the influx of foreign cars, steel and other products. Unless labor leaders recognize the threat, they may well wind up 'unionizing' unemployment."

Mr. Kennedy has failed also in the matter of tax reform and especially in planning that would stimulate an increased volume of business out of which the government could derive more and more tax receipts.

He has failed, moreover, to furnish a comprehensive plan of how he is going to deal with the businesses that would be injured by low tariffs. All this adds up finally to a loss of confidence.

Much of the difficulty is the fact that half baked plans are launched without being thought through.

The proposal to lower tariffs has many champions, even among businessmen, but this doesn't solve the problems of those who are going to be hurt by such action.

LIKEWISE, when the administration is reported to be planning to ask Congress for power to raise or lower taxes at will, there is little thought given to the psychological damage such a proposal can do to public confidence.

Only the President can restore the confidence he has lost. If he fails to win it, then the election next autumn of another political party to the majority position in Congress would not be surprising.

Mr. Kennedy's leadership or lack of it is bound to be the issue in November, particularly because the economic apparatus, which was expected to boom this year isn't getting off dead center as yet.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The four Vagabonds — Kenneth Miller, Harold Driggs, Raymond Alton and Wilbur Newman — sang at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Dr. J. S. McCulloch was relected president of the People's National Bank at Wellsville.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Ralph Sanford and Mrs. Louis Sanford participated in a program at the annual dinner meeting of the Columbiana County Trustees and Clerks Association in Lisbon.

Mrs. V. A. Schreiber of Madison Township left for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Lawrence Turnbull of Los Angeles, a soprano for many years in the choir at the First Presbyterian Church, here.

W. W. Ingram of Louisiana Ave., Chester, left for a vacation at Mt. Dora, Fla.

TEN YEARS AGO — The congregation of the Calvary Methodist Church paid tribute to Mrs. C. H. Risinger of Chestnut St., who set a record of 69 years as a Sunday School teacher.

Steve Homolya became the new president of the East Liverpool Photographers Society.

'Tin Can Mail'

Aquatic mail service has been revived on Niuafo'ou, probably the only isle on earth where sharks rather than dogs nip at the heels of the postman.

The wave - lashed, volcanic island smoulders on the northern fringe of the Tonga archipelago in the South Pacific. Niuafo'ou has no harbor and for years the islanders swam to streamers offshore to collect mail in sealed biscuit tins. As the paddling postmen's fame grew, stamp collectors sent countless letters to be reposted with the imprint, "Tin Can Mail."

A volcanic eruption in September 1946 drove the 1,300 inhabitants from their island. When lava flows eventually subsided, parties of copra cutters came now and then to harvest coconut palms. A vanguard of 200 men, women and children returned in 1958 to resettle. Today, according to the British Colonial Office, virtually all former residents are back.

Like other Polynesians, the people of Niuafo'ou revere their ancestral island and prefer to live there dispite the danger. Lava gushes from the many volcanic craters at intervals of about 16 years.

The Hard Way

Four teen-agers were picked up in a stolen car and taken to the police station here for questioning.

Three, who had gone along merely for the ride, were not aware that the car had been stolen and were released after questioning convinced officers of their innocence.

There's this moral to the story — do your best to use sound judgment in situations where sound judgment is called for. Quite often one can become the victim of the company one keeps.

The three innocent youngsters have learned a lesson the hard way. Others should benefit from their experience.

Reform Eyed For Federal Grants

By Raymo nd Moley

In a singularly moving book, "The Sovereign States," James Jackson Kilpatrick notes that in the Virginia Convention in 1788, which was debating the ratification of the new constitution of the United States, a bitter argument took place between Patrick Henry and an aging and crippled Edmund Pendleton.

Henry, with his customary violent eloquence, contended that under the proposed constitution a grasping federal government would seize the powers of the states one by one.

Pendleton contended that "the two governments were established for different purposes, and act on different objects. . . . They can no more clash than two parallel lines can meet." Henry was right. Pendleton's geometry didn't work.

Those were battles long ago and there were fire and color in them. So, indeed, are the conflicts in so many places in the South where a few Negro children seek admission to an all-white school.

IN THESE early days in January, when the newspapers are full of news about state, city, and federal budgets, we perceive no color or drama—only figures meaningless to most and confusing even to the expert.

But those figures, together with the various messages of the governors of the states reporting to their legislatures the state or financial affairs, embody a threat more serious than the barring of certain schools against Negro children.

In good time those schools will be open to all qualified scholars but once the states are utterly dependent upon federal funds to serve their people and in every state and local government the prying hands of federal bureaucrats take over, the separate identity of federal and state authority will be a fiction and the American people will have lost their mastery of their own affairs.

There is progress toward admitting qualified Negro children to all schools but the rights of the states in all other respects are being rapidly destroyed.

Their progressive decay is accomplished by the twin forces of the loss of their sources of taxation to the federal octopus and their acceptance of larger and more grants-in-aid.

CONSIDER the stark reality of this expropriation. A central government, itself created by the original 13 states, is telling the people of the states that they are not fit to tax and thus have the money to serve their collective interests.

Uncle Sam is saying in effect: "I will take the money from your citizens and then give some back to you, telling you exactly what you can do with these 'gifts.' And to make sure that you don't make mistakes, we will loose upon you a horde of bureaucrats." Consider the impudence of this.

It is an old human weakness. When liberty is suffocated by the sweet smell of "free" money, the victim dies happy.

When William H. Taft was president, federal grants to the states amounted to only $3 million. This rose to $33 million in 1920. In 1941 it was $836 million. In 1952 it was $3,176 million.

In that year, Candidate Eisenhower took note of this federal speech or two.

After he was President he created, through Congress, an Intergovernmental Relations Commission. The commission made a report, and Congress ignored it.

THE GRANTS continued to grow and in the present year will reach, counting all items—direct budget expenditures, trust fund payments, shared revenues, and the like—the tremendous sum of $8 billion.

The former research director of the Eisenhower Intergovernmental Commission, George C. S. Benson, and Prof. Harold F. McClelland have just written a report on the subject which is published by the American Enterprise Association in Washington.

They note the peril to our institutions in the growth of handouts to the states and local communities.

They also recognize that the best of all solutions is to return certain stolen tax sources to the states and thus let them care for themselves.

But pending that, they suggest two reforms that make a lot of sense. The better of the two is to give the states a general grant, without strings and let them spend it as they wish. After all, it is money which came from the citizens of the states concerned. Another plan would be "consolidated grants," which would be for general items such as health, highways, etc., which the states could manage themselves.

TWO GOOD results would come from either plan. The federal bureaucracy would be taken out of the affairs of the states. Also, the big pressure organizations which are encamped in Washington as lobbies in Congress would have to spread themselves into 50 state capitols. Thus decentralized, they would have less power.

The principle involved is to keep the government closer to the people who are taxed. Nobody can quarrel with that idea—except, of course, the majority of this Congress and the ever-grasping federal bureaucracy.

Mexico 'Soaks' Rich

By Bert Quint

MEXICO CITY

The Mexican government, faced with mounting bills and dwindling reserves, is putting into effect a series of tax reforms aimed at making the country's small wealthy class carry a larger share of the financial burden.

Until now, taxes have been a minor item for the Mexican businessman and industrialist as well as for the wage earner and professional accounting for only about one-tenth of the national income.

Starting this year, Mexico hopes to bring that figures closer to the 30 per cent more highly industrialized countries obtain.

There are two principal reasons for this change.

On the one hand, uncertain political and economic policies have brought a significant drop in foreign and domestic investment and in tourism from abroad, especially from the United States.

On the other, Mexico is counting strongly on large sums of money from the Alliance for Progress to get its economy moving again and the United States has made it clear that it does not intend to tax its people heavily to help countries that tax their own only to a small degree.

The most important feature of the reforms is the step being taken toward a full income tax; that is, toward taxing the total earnings of a citizen rather than just parts of them. In the past, for example, he would be taxed a certain amount on his agricultural earnings, another on his industrial income and still a third on his commercial profits.

So that the change could not be too drastic, it has been ordered that it apply only to persons or companies earning a total of more than 180,000 pesos ($14,400) per year and that the surtax not be levied where income taxes paid under the various schedules would exceed 30 per cent of the taxable income.

Another significant change is in the computation of capital gains taxes.

Previously, only gains from the sale of land and buildings which formed part of the fixed assets of an industrial, agricultural or commercial firm were taxed — a flat 20 per cent. Now, profits from the sale of any land and building are to be taxed. The tax will run from 5 to 20 per cent, depending on the time the property been held and the amount of the gains.

Kennedy's Weakness

By David Lawrence

President Seen Lacking Economic Realism

Confidence is a many-sided and elusive thing. An administration may readily boast of why it has won the confidence of the country but isn't always so sure of the reasons when that same confidence is lost.

David Lawrence

The Kennedy administration may show up well on Gallup Polls but the sad truth is that it has failed to win the confidence of the numerically small roster of men who operate every day the economy of the United States. They are the businessmen who must borrow money and risk capital for new plants or for the development of new markets. They are the men who are responsible for attaining profit margins that will attract investors. They are also the men whose ingenuity and planning ability result in the creation of more and more jobs.

Today the unemployment problem — according to figures just released — shows no signs of being solved. The stock market is sagging. Anxiety among businessmen is widespread.

There is a prospect of another steel strike and possibly another retardation of the economy as a whole.

Why is President Kennedy not making headway on this front? He is personally cordial to businessmen and to everybody else. He is earnest and sincere. He is trying hard to make good.

But when it comes to an understanding of what makes the wheels go round in business, his education as President has not progressed far enough for him to recognize the true weakness of his own administration.

Mr. Kennedy is often torn between the conflicting viewpoints of his advisers. Most of them are alert minded and forward looking and want to do everything possible to make the Kennedy administration succeed but they are novices in the practical field of government operations as well as in the perplexing tasks involved in getting new legislation approved by the people's representatives in Congress.

IT SEEMS startling and hard to realize but there is not a single adviser on economic matters at the President's side, either in the Cabinet or in the unofficial cabinet, who has had any experience as the actual head of a really large business.

Secretary of Defense McNamara has had a few years of such contacts but he is not charged by the President with the responsibility for making economic policy.

The President's words in his many speeches and messages have set forth the desirable goals in eloquent fashion. But the words have become meaningless in the absence of concrete action that is based on the everyday facts of business progress.

Mr. Kennedy has failed signally on the labor - management front. It is not what he has done but what he has failed to do, that counts.

While the President has been occupying himself largely with foreign policy matters, he has not perceived the real reason why the challenge of the Common Market in Europe can wind up in a big failure for the American economy. The reason is simple —the chaos on the labor management front in America.

BERNARD BARUCH, in a book he wrote a few years ago called "Public Affairs," describes trenchantly the wage price spiral as follows:

"By abusing its powers, labor injures not only itself but the whole country. While it is the proper concern of union leaders to improve the lot of their followers, they must recognize that their demands must be economically justified. If wage and other demands are not accompanied by increasing productivity, inevitably prices will be driven out of reach, and foreign competition encouraged, to the detriment of the entire economy. American workers will wind up as the highest-paid unemployed workers in the world. In America we are already feeling the pinch resulting from the influx of foreign cars, steel and other products. Unless labor leaders recognize the threat, they may well wind up 'unionizing' unemployment."

Mr. Kennedy has failed also in the matter of tax reform and especially in planning that would stimulate an increased volume of business out of which the government could derive more and more tax receipts.

He has failed, moreover, to furnish a comprehensive plan of how he is going to deal with the businesses that would be injured by low tariffs. All this adds up finally to a loss of confidence.

Much of the difficulty is the fact that half baked plans are launched without being thought through.

The proposal to lower tariffs has many champions, even among businessmen, but this doesn't solve the problems of those who are going to be hurt by such action.

LIKEWISE, when the administration is reported to be planning to ask Congress for power to raise or lower taxes at will, there is little thought given to the psychological damage such a proposal can do to public confidence.

Only the President can restore the confidence he has lost. If he fails to win it, then the election next autumn of another political party to the majority position in Congress would not be surprising.

Mr. Kennedy's leadership or lack of it is bound to be the issue in November, particularly because the economic apparatus, which was expected to boom this year isn't getting off dead center as yet.

'Tin Can Mail'

Aquatic mail service has been revived on Niuafo'ou, probably the only isle on earth where sharks rather than dogs nip at the heels of the postman.

The wave - lashed, volcanic island smoulders on the northern fringe of the Tonga archipelago in the South Pacific. Niuafo'ou has no harbor and for years the islanders swam to streamers offshore to collect mail in sealed biscuit tins. As the paddling postmen's fame grew, stamp collectors sent countless letters to be reposted with the imprint, "Tin Can Mail."

A volcanic eruption in September 1946 drove the 1,300 inhabitants from their island. When lava flows eventually subsided, parties of copra cutters came now and then to harvest coconut palms. A vanguard of 200 men, women and children returned in 1958 to resettle. Today, according to the British Colonial Office, virtually all former residents are back.

Like other Polynesians, the people of Niuafo'ou revere their ancestral island and prefer to live there dispite the danger. Lava gushes from the many volcanic craters at intervals of about 16 years.

GOP Closes Party Ranks In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are tightening their lines in this election year and President Kennedy is likely to find it more difficult to scrape up needed congressional GOP votes for his new proposals.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana faced realities Sunday when he said he was counting on Republican votes to gain approval of some programs opposed by conservatives of both parties.

Mansfield noted that several key Kennedy bills would have failed in Congress last year if Republicans had not contributed from five to 13 Senate votes for them.

While some Republicans will continue to support specific Kennedy recommendations, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said in an interview he thinks there will be more solid GOP opposition in Congress this year.

As an assistant Senate Republican leader who often lines up with the liberals, Kuchel is charged with finding out where his party colleagues stand on individual issues and with making it certain they are on hand when the roll is called.

"When we Republicans believe the President's recommendations are in the best interests of the country, we will support them," Kuchel said. "When we think the President is wrong, we will oppose his proposals and offer what we consider constructive alternatives.

"On fundamental issues, however, I think the Republicans are going to be nearly unanimous. We all want fiscal responsibility of the type that the Democrats don't always demonstrate. We are going to do everything we can to see to it that the President's pledge of a balanced budget is kept.

"If I read the signs right, there will be overwhelming Republican opposition to giving the President authority to cut taxes. And we are not going to accept any farm program that delegates to the Agriculture Department what would amount to the authority to pass laws in this field."

Kuchel, who needs independent and Democratic support in this year's bid for re-election in California, was not prepared to go as far as Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in demanding a "clearly recognizable" line of demarcation between the Republicans and the Democrats.

Goldwater, a spokesman for conservatives, told the Republican National Committee conference in Oklahoma City over the weekend that the party's presidential defeat of 1960 may have come about "because we were not Republican enough."

Dilworth Move Hints Bid In Governor Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor Richardson Dilworth has resigned, effective Feb. 12, ostensibly to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the May 15 primary election.

The 63-year-old mayor, who was defeated in 1950 as the Democratic candidate for governor in the general election, announced his resignation at a news conference Sunday. Intimates had reported last year that Dilworth advised them he intended to seek the nomination.

Patrol near Steubenville said the highways in its area were covered with ice early this morning. Several skidding accidents were reported. The road had started to clear by mid-morning, but still was slippery in spots, officers said.

Heavy wet snow blanketed broad areas of the Midwest today, piling atop the big covering still on the ground from last week's storm.

The storm, which swept northeastward from eastern Kansas and Oklahoma dumped from one up to more than six inches of snow in a belt extending from northern Missouri across northwestern Illinois into southeast Wisconsin and western lower Michigan.

Snow depths in the region ranged from 8 to 10 inches, with the covering in Muskegon, Mich., measuring 15 inches. Chicago, hit by an 11-inch snowfall a week ago, started digging out from the fresh fall which was expected to reach eight or nine inches.

Driving conditions were reported hazardous throughout the snow belt. At least three traffic deaths were attributed to slippery highways, one each in Kansas, Missouri and Iowa. Three persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow in Illinois.

Air travel was curtailed in some cities, including Kansas City and Chicago.

South of the snow belt, heavy rains pounded areas from southern Illinois and Indiana southward through the lower Mississippi Valley.

Thunderstorms rumbled across Alabama and sections of Louisiana and Mississippi, causing some property damage. Gusts of 66 m.p.h. lashed Birmingham while gusty winds and heavy rains hit southeast Louisiana.

There was a warming trend in most of the Southeast in the wake of last week's unseasonable cold weather. Temperatures were above freezing for the first time in several nights in the Carolinas, Tennessee and the gulf region. Readings ranged up to 80 in southern Florida Sunday.

Man, 34, Dies As Auto Falls

Raymond Dyke, 34, of Darlington R. D. 1, South Beaver Township, died Sunday afternoon after an auto he was repairing at his garage fell on him.

Authorities said he had been repairing the right front wheel and had crawled under the car. The bumper jack slipped, causing the auto to pin him underneath. An axle caught him across the neck, choking him.

The office of Dr. John W. Colavincenzo, Beaver County coroner, said he choked to death. He also suffered a crushed neck and right shoulder.

The coroner's office estimated the time of death at 3:30 p. m. The body was not discovered until 7:30 p. m. Mr. Dyke lived alone.

He was born in East Palestine, son of Herbert and Margaret Spooner Dyke, and had moved from there about 18 years ago. He was an employe of Babcock & Wilcox Tubular Products Co. at Beaver Falls.

The body was taken to the J. Orville Scott Funeral Home in Beaver Falls.

Space

the space agency said that the balloon had split.

After viewing a television film, officials theorized that perhaps the sphere carried too much residual air which caused it to expand too quickly.

The TV film, relayed from a camera in the Thor booster, showed vividly the separation of the canister from the rocket, opening of the canister with one-half slipping off into space and sudden inflation of the balloon and the almost immediate ripping.

The tear first appeared about three seconds after inflation, and immediately split the balloon into several pieces.

Newsmen viewed the film at a news conference.

Officials said the film was much clearer than expected and that it was among the best footage of type ever relayed from a space vehicle.

Walter Bressette, a project official, said the expansion of the balloon was much more rapid than anticipated, indicating that perhaps an overdose of air had been placed in the sphere before launching to help the inflation.

Actually, the amount of air was very small. The main inflation was caused by 50 pounds of sublimating powder which turned to gas in space.

An attempt also was under way to recover a 16-mm movie camera which ejected from the Thor and parachuted into the sea. The package carrying the movie camera was sighted floating in the ocean about 200 miles northeast of San Salvador about an hour after the launching. This film would provide a clearer picture of what happened to the big sphere.

Newsmen at the Cape saw the beginning of the inflation process as the sun reflected off the gleaming surface. The balloon at first appeared as a solitary star drifting slowly upward in the dark, clear sky.

Suddenly, several other bright objects appeared to surround it. Observers thought initially that these might be parts of the rocket and the canister which carried the folded balloon.

The fragments climbed upward for approximately the intended maximum altitude of 950 miles before starting a quick descent, leaving wavy vapor trails in their wake.

"On fundamental issues, however, I think the Republicans are going to be nearly unanimous. We all want fiscal responsibility of the type that the Democrats don't always demonstrate. We are going to do everything we can to see to it that the President's pledge of a balanced budget is kept.

"If I read the signs right, there will be overwhelming Republican opposition to giving the President authority to cut taxes. And we are not going to accept any farm program that delegates to the Agriculture Department what would amount to the authority to pass laws in this field."

Kuchel, who needs independent and Democratic support in this year's bid for re-election in California, was not prepared to go as far as Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in demanding a "clearly recognizable" line of demarcation between the Republicans and the Democrats.

Goldwater, a spokesman for conservatives, told the Republican National Committee conference in Oklahoma City over the weekend that the party's presidential defeat of 1960 may have come about "because we were not Republican enough."

Dilworth Move Hints Bid In Governor Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor Richardson Dilworth has resigned, effective Feb. 12, ostensibly to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the May 15 primary election.

The 63-year-old mayor, who was defeated in 1950 as the Democratic candidate for governor in the general election, announced his resignation at a news conference Sunday. Intimates had reported last year that Dilworth advised them he intended to seek the nomination.

The Important Things

DES MOINES, Iowa—(AP)—A 7-year-old Des Moines boy handed his mother a list of telephone numbers and asked her to keep it for him "so the other kids won't get them." The mother checked on the numbers and found that they were for a priest, a bank, a cab company and a television repairman.

Weather

Patrol near Steubenville said the highways in its area were covered with ice early this morning. Several skidding accidents were reported. The road had started to clear by mid-morning, but still was slippery in spots, officers said.

Heavy wet snow blanketed broad areas of the Midwest today, piling atop the big covering still on the ground from last week's storm.

The storm, which swept northeastward from eastern Kansas and Oklahoma dumped from one up to more than six inches of snow in a belt extending from northern Missouri across northwestern Illinois into southeast Wisconsin and western lower Michigan.

Snow depths in the region ranged from 8 to 10 inches, with the covering in Muskegon, Mich., measuring 15 inches. Chicago, hit by an 11-inch snowfall a week ago, started digging out from the fresh fall which was expected to reach eight or nine inches.

Driving conditions were reported hazardous throughout the snow belt. At least three traffic deaths were attributed to slippery highways, one each in Kansas, Missouri and Iowa. Three persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow in Illinois.

Air travel was curtailed in some cities, including Kansas City and Chicago.

Thunderstorms rumbled across Alabama and sections of Louisiana and Mississippi, causing some property damage. Gusts of 66 m.p.h. lashed Birmingham while gusty winds and heavy rains hit southeast Louisiana.

There was a warming trend in most of the Southeast in the wake of last week's unseasonable cold weather. Temperatures were above freezing for the first time in several nights in the Carolinas, Tennessee and the gulf region. Readings ranged up to 80 in southern Florida Sunday.

the coast of South Viet Nam on Sunday.

The Breton was the second ship loaded with planes to arrive here since South Viet Nam and the United States reached agreement last month on a major new military buildup.

The first ship, the Core, brought about 40 helicopters and 400 U.S. Army men to fly and service them. The helicopters are capable of carrying 14 men each.

The official silence blanketing the arrival of new U.S. equipment has led to wide speculation as to the numbers and types of weapons being brought into the war-torn republic.

Large quantities of military supplies arrive here both by air and ship nearly every day, and convoys made up of U.S. Army trucks are often seen passing through Saigon.

Man, 34, Dies As Auto Falls

Raymond Dyke, 34, of Darlington R. D. 1, South Beaver Township, died Sunday afternoon after an auto he was repairing at his garage fell on him.

Authorities said he had been repairing the right front wheel and had crawled under the car. The bumper jack slipped, causing the auto to pin him underneath. An axle caught him across the neck, choking him.

The office of Dr. John W. Colavincenzo, Beaver County coroner, said he choked to death. He also suffered a crushed neck and right shoulder.

The coroner's office estimated the time of death at 3:30 p. m. The body was not discovered until 7:30 p. m. Mr. Dyke lived alone.

He was born in East Palestine, son of Herbert and Margaret Spooner Dyke, and had moved from there about 18 years ago. He was an employe of Babcock & Wilcox Tubular Products Co. at Beaver Falls.

The body was taken to the J. Orville Scott Funeral Home in Beaver Falls.

Space

the space agency said that the balloon had split.

After viewing a television film, officials theorized that perhaps the sphere carried too much residual air which caused it to expand too quickly.

The TV film, relayed from a camera in the Thor booster, showed vividly the separation of the canister from the rocket, opening of the canister with one-half slipping off into space and sudden inflation of the balloon and the almost immediate ripping.

The tear first appeared about three seconds after inflation, and immediately split the balloon into several pieces.

Newsmen viewed the film at a news conference.

Officials said the film was much clearer than expected and that it was among the best footage of type ever relayed from a space vehicle.

Walter Bressette, a project official, said the expansion of the balloon was much more rapid than anticipated, indicating that perhaps an overdose of air had been placed in the sphere before launching to help the inflation.

Actually, the amount of air was very small. The main inflation was caused by 50 pounds of sublimating powder which turned to gas in space.

An attempt also was under way to recover a 16-mm movie camera which ejected from the Thor and parachuted into the sea. The package carrying the movie camera was sighted floating in the ocean about 200 miles northeast of San Salvador about an hour after the launching. This film would provide a clearer picture of what happened to the big sphere.

Newsmen at the Cape saw the beginning of the inflation process as the sun reflected off the gleaming surface. The balloon at first appeared as a solitary star drifting slowly upward in the dark, clear sky.

Suddenly, several other bright objects appeared to surround it. Observers thought initially that these might be parts of the rocket and the canister which carried the folded balloon.

Hall Workers Ignore New Pleas To Return

Pickets remained on duty and a work stoppage continued at the Hall China Co. today despite a new urging from the Executive Board of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters for the strikers to return to their jobs.

E. L. Wheatley, international president, said two members of the union's executive board returned early from meetings in New York City Friday and met with a committee of Hall employes from all departments, including kilnfiremen, and advised them to go back to work.

"There's little the IBOP can do while the illegal work stoppage continues," Wheatley said. "When they return, we will try to settle the dispute as we were before they went out," he added. The work stoppage was started Jan. 4 by kilnfiremen.

She asked that he be ordered to approve her name on the commissioners' payroll. The decision in her case would settle the salary question of the three other GOP appointees.

Mrs. Helman's death forced a postponement last fall until it could be decided if the petition she filed could be continued in the interest of her administrator.

Commissioners, at their Jan. 4 meeting, abolished all the jobs and rehired the three Republicans as clerks in their office.

Hall Workers Ignore New Pleas To Return

Pickets remained on duty and a work stoppage continued at the Hall China Co. today despite a new urging from the Executive Board of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters for the strikers to return to their jobs.

E. L. Wheatley, international president, said two members of the union's executive board returned early from meetings in New York City Friday and met with a committee of Hall employes from all departments, including kilnfiremen, and advised them to go back to work.

"There's little the IBOP can do while the illegal work stoppage continues," Wheatley said. "When they return, we will try to settle the dispute as we were before they went out," he added. The work stoppage was started Jan. 4 by kilnfiremen.

Bus Concern Seeks To Cut City Service

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet was notified today by the Greyhound Corp. that it has filed a petition with the Ohio Public Utilities Commission for permission to eliminate its route on Pennsylvania Ave. to the state line as part of the procedure for abandoning its inter-city service between East Liverpool, Rochester and Pittsburgh.

In a letter to the mayor, J. E. Donahue, general traffic manager for the Eastern Greyhound Lines division, said Greyhound and the Beaver Valley Motor Coach Co. of New Brighton have filed petitions with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

Greyhound is asking permission to discontinue service on the intercity route while the Beaver Valley firm is asking authority to provide the service, Mayor Goodballet was advised.

The letter gave no indication when a hearing would be held by the PUC.

A statement setting forth the changes the firm wants to make in its intrastate service was included with the letter.

Post Office Burglars Get $2,000 In Weirton

WEIRTON — Yeggs looted the Post Office of nearly $2,000 in small bills and change in a safe-cracking job over the weekend.

U. S. Postal Inspector David Nelson of Wheeling said that two small floor safes had been "peeled open like bananas." The stolen money was in credit accounts of individual clerks and not postal funds, Nelson said.

In a brief report on the robbery, city police said the discovery was made by a clerk who reported for work Sunday at 7 a. m.

Police said they are investigating, along with federal authorities and West Virginia State Police. There are no clues or suspects yet, the police said.

organizations in Geneva, under whose auspices the negotiations began.

A spokesman for the U.S. mission to the EEC confirmed that a meeting had been arranged between Peterson and Rey for Tuesday but said as far as they know, the meeting is not for the formal signature of any agreement.

"Everything seems to be going all right," the sources said. "Meetings of experts are taking place today to examine the last problems still pending. These meetings will continue tomorrow morning if need be."

The sources indicated that the French representatives had expressed some reservations about tariff cuts on imports of some American chemicals, but that it was hoped these objections could be met to the satisfaction of the French government.

The pact, it was understood, involves up to 20 per cent reductions on hundreds of tariffs—more by the six-nation market than by the United States.

It also was reported that an arrangement had been made for protecting U.S. farm products in trade with the market.

The agriculture problem had been the main obstacle in the 15 months of negotiations. That apparently was cleared Sunday when the Common Market hammered together a joint agriculture program.

When the deal goes through—and informants indicated it may be near the signing stage—the U.S. tariff reductions would be made under the authority already held by President Kennedy.

Such authority was granted by the 1958 enabling act of the reciprocal trade program. This is the program Kennedy wants greatly expanded to give him a freer hand in negotiating massive tariff reductions with the Common Market.

State Department officials said that one result of the agreement would be that the Common Market would lower its tariffs 20 per cent.

U.S. reductions—limited by the trade act—would be up to 20 per cent.

The agreement was worked out in Brussels with special presidential adviser Howard Peterson representing the United States in final talks with officials of the Common Market—which is made up of West Germany, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

In the Brussels meeting, the Common Market officials have been negotiating agreements for the second stage of a three-phase trade program.

Completion of the second stage after 16 days of tough horse trading smooths the way for negotiations with other European nations seeking to join the trade bloc and for possible bilateral agreements with the United States.

Shark

German deep sea expert, Hans Hass.

"Hass said to make a lot of noise and hit an attacking shark in the face.

"I spit out my breathing mouthpiece, began yelling, 'Shark! Shark!' at the same time I began jabbing at the shark's snout with my spear. He let loose of me and took off."

Two other divers helped Pair back to the New Merrimac. In minutes the water was cleared of other divers. A helicopter was called and took Pair to San Francisco's Franklin Hospital.

"On the boat they wanted to cut off my suit and look at the wounds," Pair said. "But I felt I needed that tight suit to keep whatever blood I still had in me."

Doctors described Pair's wounds as serious but not crippling. He suffered gaping leg wounds and a deep bite into a buttock.

A doctor said Pair's femoral artery just missed being severed. "If that had gone, he'd have gone too."

Bus Concern Seeks To Cut City Service

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet was notified today by the Greyhound Corp. that it has filed a petition with the Ohio Public Utilities Commission for permission to eliminate its route on Pennsylvania Ave. to the state line as part of the procedure for abandoning its inter-city service between East Liverpool, Rochester and Pittsburgh.

In a letter to the mayor, J. E. Donahue, general traffic manager for the Eastern Greyhound Lines division, said Greyhound and the Beaver Valley Motor Coach Co. of New Brighton have filed petitions with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

Greyhound is asking permission to discontinue service on the intercity route while the Beaver Valley firm is asking authority to provide the service, Mayor Goodballet was advised.

The letter gave no indication when a hearing would be held by the PUC.

A statement setting forth the changes the firm wants to make in its intrastate service was included with the letter.

Post Office Burglars Get $2,000 In Weirton

WEIRTON — Yeggs looted the Post Office of nearly $2,000 in small bills and change in a safe-cracking job over the weekend.

U. S. Postal Inspector David Nelson of Wheeling said that two small floor safes had been "peeled open like bananas." The stolen money was in credit accounts of individual clerks and not postal funds, Nelson said.

In a brief report on the robbery, city police said the discovery was made by a clerk who reported for work Sunday at 7 a. m.

Police said they are investigating, along with federal authorities and West Virginia State Police. There are no clues or suspects yet, the police said.

organizations in Geneva, under whose auspices the negotiations began.

A spokesman for the U.S. mission to the EEC confirmed that a meeting had been arranged between Peterson and Rey for Tuesday but said as far as they know, the meeting is not for the formal signature of any agreement.

"Everything seems to be going all right," the sources said. "Meetings of experts are taking place today to examine the last problems still pending. These meetings will continue tomorrow morning if need be."

The sources indicated that the French representatives had expressed some reservations about tariff cuts on imports of some American chemicals, but that it was hoped these objections could be met to the satisfaction of the French government.

The pact, it was understood, involves up to 20 per cent reductions on hundreds of tariffs—more by the six-nation market than by the United States.

It also was reported that an arrangement had been made for protecting U.S. farm products in trade with the market.

The agriculture problem had been the main obstacle in the 15 months of negotiations. That apparently was cleared Sunday when the Common Market hammered together a joint agriculture program.

When the deal goes through—and informants indicated it may be near the signing stage—the U.S. tariff reductions would be made under the authority already held by President Kennedy.

Such authority was granted by the 1958 enabling act of the reciprocal trade program. This is the program Kennedy wants greatly expanded to give him a freer hand in negotiating massive tariff reductions with the Common Market.

State Department officials said that one result of the agreement would be that the Common Market would lower its tariffs 20 per cent.

U.S. reductions—limited by the trade act—would be up to 20 per cent.

The agreement was worked out in Brussels with special presidential adviser Howard Peterson representing the United States in final talks with officials of the Common Market—which is made up of West Germany, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

In the Brussels meeting, the Common Market officials have been negotiating agreements for the second stage of a three-phase trade program.

Completion of the second stage after 16 days of tough horse trading smooths the way for negotiations with other European nations seeking to join the trade bloc and for possible bilateral agreements with the United States.

Shark

German deep sea expert, Hans Hass.

"Hass said to make a lot of noise and hit an attacking shark in the face.

"I spit out my breathing mouthpiece, began yelling, 'Shark! Shark!' at the same time I began jabbing at the shark's snout with my spear. He let loose of me and took off."

Two other divers helped Pair back to the New Merrimac. In minutes the water was cleared of other divers. A helicopter was called and took Pair to San Francisco's Franklin Hospital.

"On the boat they wanted to cut off my suit and look at the wounds," Pair said. "But I felt I needed that tight suit to keep whatever blood I still had in me."

Doctors described Pair's wounds as serious but not crippling. He suffered gaping leg wounds and a deep bite into a buttock.

A doctor said Pair's femoral artery just missed being severed. "If that had gone, he'd have gone too."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I used to read your column for laughs because I couldn't get over some of the nutty stuff people got themselves into. Well you can line my wife right up there with the rest of the filberts.

Mabel is 56 years old. She's a lively person and a great little dancer. Mable took a set of dancing lessons a few months ago and now she's gone hog wild over the twist.

She's even giving lessons to her friends. The house is full of young and old alike. The noise drives me crazy. It's that bang bang bang, rock 'n' roll stuff. I used to work in a foundry and it was quiet compared with what goes on at our hourse.

Mabel's back has knonked out on her three times in the past six weeks. I've had to call the doctor twice. The last time she was like paralyzed and I drove her to the hospital for X-rays. We thought sure she had broken something.

The twist is bad enough when kids do it, but for a woman who is a grandmother five times over I think it is insane. How can I get her to knock off this foolishness?—CHARLEY.

Dear Charley: The twist, like other dance fads, will disappear eventually. Most fads leave only memories, but this one, according to orthopedic specialists, will leave slipped discs, dislocated hips, pulled ligaments and a glittering assortment of sacroiliac problems.

If Mable insists on twisting after the casualties she has suffered I agree that she's in the filbert class.

Mink And Cat

Dear Ann: A friend of mine got a fur coat for Christmas. She says it is Japanese mink. I've seen mink before and this one doesn't look like the real thing to me. I think she made up the name.

She wore the coat yesterday and it began to rain. Her "Japanese mink" took on a musty odor —like a cat. Do you think maybe her coat is some sort of cat? Please tell me because I don't want her to put anything over on me.—WANTING THE FACTS.

Dear Wanting: YOU sound like some sort of a cat yourself, Doll.

There is indeed a fur called Japanese mink. It is yellow and is dyed dark brown to resemble its American cousin, the ranch mink. All mink are weasels, however, and any weasel will smell a little musty if he gets caught in the rain.

Tailor-Made Solution

Dear Ann: My youngster sister and her husband are celebrating their first wedding anniversary next month. We want to give them something unusual but we haven't much money to spend.

A family joke is the way they race each other for the newspaper because they both want to read your column. We though of giving them each some roller skates but my husband says it would be a waste of money. What can you suggest since you are indirectly involved: — SUE AND LOU.

Child Should Be Prepared For Sitter

Practically every young child should spend some time with a babysitter. He needs the experience of being away from his mother for short or longer periods. She needs also to get away from him for short periods and to have some recreation with her husband. Often, too, having a babysitter is a necessity, as in emergencies when the mother works. Beginning with the infant, see that the father or another adult ministers some to his care while in your immediate presence or while you are home. On the first occasion, or at later times when another skillful person offers to supply his needs in your presence, don't let this child order you to do so instead.

BUT BE SURE the other person is not a total stranger to the little child. See that he or she is around during your presence long enough for the child to become acquainted with him or her.

You would not, for instance, suddenly leave your tot under 2, 3 or 5 with a strange babysitter who arrives for the first time just before you are about to leave. Nor should you leave your little child alone with a strange babysitter before he had been left for a number of times with Dad, a grandparent or some other familiar person.

Having provided the child with abundant understanding and love, listening kindly to what he says, explaining things, answering his questions and reading to him as soon as he will listen, choose a babysitter who you feel sure will do likewise and will win the youngster's co-operation.

AS SOON AS your child can move about under his own steam, begin to train him to respect the word NO said just once in a normal tone. Before he is two or three, get into good operation skillful, effective chair-sitting for occasional necessary punishment.

If he's prepared well to profit from such a measure of control, you can safely delegate the same means of control to the mature babysitter.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I used to read your column for laughs because I couldn't get over some of the nutty stuff people got themselves into. Well you can line my wife right up there with the rest of the filberts.

Mabel is 56 years old. She's a lively person and a great little dancer. Mable took a set of dancing lessons a few months ago and now she's gone hog wild over the twist.

She's even giving lessons to her friends. The house is full of young and old alike. The noise drives me crazy. It's that bang bang bang, rock 'n' roll stuff. I used to work in a foundry and it was quiet compared with what goes on at our hourse.

Mabel's back has knonked out on her three times in the past six weeks. I've had to call the doctor twice. The last time she was like paralyzed and I drove her to the hospital for X-rays. We thought sure she had broken something.

The twist is bad enough when kids do it, but for a woman who is a grandmother five times over I think it is insane. How can I get her to knock off this foolishness?—CHARLEY.

Dear Charley: The twist, like other dance fads, will disappear eventually. Most fads leave only memories, but this one, according to orthopedic specialists, will leave slipped discs, dislocated hips, pulled ligaments and a glittering assortment of sacroiliac problems.

If Mable insists on twisting after the casualties she has suffered I agree that she's in the filbert class.

Mink And Cat

Dear Ann: A friend of mine got a fur coat for Christmas. She says it is Japanese mink. I've seen mink before and this one doesn't look like the real thing to me. I think she made up the name.

She wore the coat yesterday and it began to rain. Her "Japanese mink" took on a musty odor—like a cat. Do you think maybe her coat is some sort of cat? Please tell me because I don't want her to put anything over on me.—WANTING THE FACTS.

Dear Wanting: YOU sound like some sort of a cat yourself, Doll.

There is indeed a fur called Japanese mink. It is yellow and is dyed dark brown to resemble its American cousin, the ranch mink. All mink are weasels, however, and any weasel will smell a little musty if he gets caught in the rain.

Tailor-Made Solution

Dear Ann: My youngster sister and her husband are celebrating their first wedding anniversary next month. We want to give them something unusual but we haven't much money to spend.

A family joke is the way they race each other for the newspaper because they both want to read your column. We though of giving them each some roller skates but my husband says it would be a waste of money. What can you suggest since you are indirectly involved: — SUE AND LOU.

Man Injured As Auto Skids

An area man was injured when his car skidded on ice and went over a small embankment on Route 154 a half mile east of Rogers about 8 a. m. today.

The section was described as hazardous by witnesses, who said several other cars were tied up on the highway and some others also skidded into a ditch or went over the embankment.

James H. Ady of the Clarkson-Pancake Rd. suffered a severe laceration over the right eye when his car went over the embankment, halting near a railroad track.

As the area was extremely slippery, the State Highway Patrol set out flares warning motorists.

Witnesses said at least two cars were in a ditch alongside the road and several others went over the embankment.

Ady was enroute to work at the Metropolitan Brick Co. near Negley. He was taken to Salem City Hospital.

Two minor skidding accidents, both caused by icy streets, were reported in Wellsville this morning.

Police said a car driven by William J. Duke of the Substation Rd. skidded as he turned off Main St. onto 5th St. and struck a parked car owned by Mary Collins, 216 8th St., Wellsville, at 7:05 a. m.

At 7:30 a. m., a car driven by Harry Hust of New Cumberland skidded at 17th St. and Clark Ave., striking a parked car owned by Lonnie Bemis of Clark Ave.

'Haunted House' Venture Ends In Death For Youth

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An excursion to a supposedly haunted house ended in tragedy for a University freshman Sunday night when he was killed by a shotgun blast. The owner of the house fired the gun, Butler County sheriff's deputies said.

The dead youth was identified as Jack W. Langhorst, 18, of Cincinnati. No charges were placed against Harry Demoret, 82, the house owner.

Langhorst and nine others made the trek to the house. Langhorst's friends told deputies they had met some girls at a drive-in who told them about "haunted houses" in the vicinity.

They decided to visit one.

The cars stopped in Demoret's yard. Langhorst got out and went in the house. Two shotgun blasts rang out.

Langhorst staggered from the house and collapsed in the yard, the youths told deputies. He had been struck in the neck and back.

Deputies said Demoret had been annoyed by other youths breaking into his home a few nights ago.

The officers said the youths told them they had never been to Demoret's house before.

Minton said Louis Risner of Englewood, Calif., apparently was the pilot. Other victims were Henry Clay Risner, Louis' brother; Russ Weininger, a business associate of Louis Risner; and Charles Cornell, all of the Los Angeles area.

You Can Use Hobbies For Rooms Theme

PORTLAND, Ore. — Want to give your party room real character and individuality?

If so, don't look in the decorating handbooks for tips. Put your family's hobbies to work and center the room's decorative theme around them.

A philatelist, for example, could key the party room decor to his stamp collection, using plaques of mounted stamps for wall decorations and arranging others on mats laid underneath the glass top of a coffee table.

A skier could do the same, decorating walls with photographs and travel posters of mountain scenes, and he could even display his equipment as part of the room's decoration, with skis, poles and boots set in handsome built-in racks that make use of corners.

A person interested in the history and lore of faraway lands could put his knowledge to work by transforming the party room into a South Seas island, an Italian fishing village, or a Japanese tea house.

One home owner, whose interest in American Indians has given him an expert's status, developed his party room into a modified museum, with glass - enclosed show cases recessed into the walls for displays of Indian artifacts. Capitalizing on his own artistic talents, he then carved authentic Indian spirit figures right into the wall paneling of the room.

The paneling was a tongue-and-groove pattern in Douglas fir, a wood which is noted for its durability but which is also easily worked with small hand tools. The figures are carved to a depth of a quarter inch in one-inch paneling and were then painted in Indian shades of red, black, light turquoise and steel gray. The fir paneling had first been stained a soft driftwood color.

Virtually any hobby that captures a family's interest can serve as a decorative theme for the party room. And the amount of emphasis given the central theme is purely a personal matter.

But whatever the hobby keynote, it deserves a congenial backdrop in the form of comfortable furnishings, warm walls and cabinet work rendered in handsome woods and a cozy fireside.

Tagging, Painting Of Lines Will Slash Plumbing Woes

CHICAGO — To most people, the basic plumbing system is the least noticed and understood essential facility of the home. When any trouble does develop, the home owner too often is frantic and angry at himself.

Of course, he can't be expected to cope with major problems that arise in the system, but he can easily acquaint himself with how to handle small troubles and what to do in the event of a serious one until the plumber arrives.

To meet any problem without delay, you should be thoroughly familiar with the plumbing lines and shutoff valves in your home. If, for instance, a sudden break occurs in an old pipe, serious damage and inconvenience can be avoided by knowing how and where to turn off the water supply.

Also, all other utility services in your home have accessible shutoff devices for use when trouble arises or when repair work must be performed.

Every member of the family should be drilled on where all of these shutoffs are located and how they may be easily operated.

For quick and accurate identification, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau suggests tagging each valve and painting the piping in distinctive colors.

Recommended colors for marking the piping are: red — hot water supply lines; blue — cold water, supply lines; yellow — waste lines, and black — vent pipes.

Your plumbing contractor will be glad to identify all lines and valves for you. It will save you money and will eliminate inconvenience during small or large repairs to any part of the system.

EAST PALESTINE — Myrtle Souturas, owners of Jim's Grill, 102 N. Market St., has been cited to appear before the Ohio Board of Liquor Control at Columbus for delinquent sales tax assessments. Hearings for 50 permit holders will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The citation was issued Dec. 30 to the local permit holder.

Lacquer Will Not Work Well When Used Over Paint

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We bought a second-hand end table which is painted a dull black. We would like to keep the black color, but want to give it a glossy finish. Can we apply lacquer directly over the paint?

Answer: It is not wise to apply lacquer over paint, since the solvent in the lacquer may soften the paint film.

You have a number of choices to achieve the desired effect. You can remove all grease and dirt from the old paint and go over the surface with glossy black paint. You can give the old paint, if it's in good condition, a coat of varnish. Or you can remove the present finish with varnish remover and put on a new finish of black lacquer.

Question: Our contractor recommends hydronic heating for a new home we're having built. Can you tell us something about it?

Answer: A hydronic heating system consists of hot water which is force - circulated through small pipes in the baseboard, floors, ceilings and walls. But why not have your contractor explain it to you in more detail?

NEW YORK — The new public auditorium at Pittsburgh, which has the world's largest retractable dome, has been nominated in national competition conducted by the American Society of Civil Engineers to select the "Outstanding Civil Engineering Achievement of the Year."

It is one of 11 projects in all parts of the country nominated for the award. Nominations were made by directors of the society. Judging will be by a jury of engineering magazine editors early in 1962.

The auditorium is the central structure in the redevelopment of 95 acres of Pittsburgh's Lower Hill district.

You Can Use Hobbies For Rooms Theme

PORTLAND, Ore. — Want to give your party room real character and individuality?

If so, don't look in the decorating handbooks for tips. Put your family's hobbies to work and center the room's decorative theme around them.

A philatelist, for example, could key the party room decor to his stamp collection, using plaques of mounted stamps for wall decorations and arranging others on mats laid underneath the glass top of a coffee table.

A skier could do the same, decorating walls with photographs and travel posters of mountain scenes, and he could even display his equipment as part of the room's decoration, with skis, poles and boots set in handsome built-in racks that make use of corners.

A person interested in the history and lore of faraway lands could put his knowledge to work by transforming the party room into a South Seas island, an Italian fishing village, or a Japanese tea house.

One home owner, whose interest in American Indians has given him an expert's status, developed his party room into a modified museum, with glass - enclosed show cases recessed into the walls for displays of Indian artifacts. Capitalizing on his own artistic talents, he then carved authentic Indian spirit figures right into the wall paneling of the room.

The paneling was a tongue-and-groove pattern in Douglas fir, a wood which is noted for its durability but which is also easily worked with small hand tools. The figures are carved to a depth of a quarter inch in one-inch paneling and were then painted in Indian shades of red, black, light turquoise and steel gray. The fir paneling had first been stained a soft driftwood color.

Virtually any hobby that captures a family's interest can serve as a decorative theme for the party room. And the amount of emphasis given the central theme is purely a personal matter.

But whatever the hobby keynote, it deserves a congenial backdrop in the form of comfortable furnishings, warm walls and cabinet work rendered in handsome woods and a cozy fireside.

Man of the house carved and painted authentic Pacific Northwest Indian figures into wall paneling of resawn Douglas fir and designed a special display case for Indian artifacts. Power Firm Has Big Budget For Projects

Monongahela Power Co. has budgeted $9,325,000 for construction projects in 1962 and Don Potter, president, said at Fairmont the resultant improvement to power supply and electric service will be spread over the company's entire service area, including Hancock County.

Major item in the new year's budget is a 132,000-volt transmission line from Pruntytown to Buckhannon, designed to improve service to the Elkins and Southern divisions. The line, with related substation facilities, is scheduled for completion early in 1963.

Also indicated in the 1962 budget is preliminary planning for use of extra high-voltage lines. Work will be started on 29 miles of transmission lines, originating in the Davis area and extending eastward to a connection with facilities of the Potomac Edison Co., affiliate of Monongahela Power in the Allegheny Power System.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average three to five degrees above normal. Normal high 35-36, normal low 18-22. Cold Tuesday, moderating Wednesday, cold Thursday, warmer Friday and Saturday. Precipitation will average about one-half inch with snow flurries Tuesday and rain or snow late Wednesday and Thursday.

Simple Rites Planned For Comedian Kovacs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ernie Kovacs, the mustachioed comedian who once said every moment of life should be enjoyed, lived and treasured, will be buried today with simple Presbyterian rites.

Ernie often said he didn't want to leave with the usual fanfare of Hollywood funerals, so his widow, singer Edie Adams, arranged the brief church rites and private burial at Forest Lawn's Hollywood Hills Cemetery. There will be no eulogy.

The 42-year-old comedian was killed early Saturday when his compact station wagon skidded into a telephone pole.

Jack Lemmon, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Billy Wilder, Dick Quine and Joe Mikalos will be active pallbearers.

Judge Herbert 'Fair' At Columbus Hospital

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Judge Thomas J. Herbert of the Ohio Supreme Court was reported improving and in fair condition at Grant Hospital today.

The 67-year-old former governor suffered a seizure late Friday night, apparently the result of a stroke he had last March. He had been in poor condition until late Sunday night when authorities announced the improvement.

Dice celery fine and add to creamed chicken, ham or eggs for a crisp texture contrast.

Vegetables Supply Drops

Winter supplies of fresh vegetables will be smaller than a year ago, according to the Co-operative Extension Service office of market information for consumers at Canfield.

Freezing weather in Florida may have some additional adverse effect on winter vegetable supplies, reports Richard Skinner, marketing agent.

Latest forecasts for nine vegetable crops, which normally make up half of the winter total, indicate that the combined production will be 8 per cent below last year. Smaller crops are forecast for celery, lettuce, cauliflower, artichokes and kale, but there should be more spinach, broccoli and beets.

Early reports from Florida indicate that damage to vegetable crops from the recent freeze as well as citrus crops was slight. However, prices of some Florida vegetables will probably increase slightly as a result of the freeze.

Winter production of broccoli in Texas and Arizona is expected to be more than a third greater than last year. Volume should be seasonally large during the next couple of months. When shopping, look for fresh broccoli that has dark green or purplish green color and compact, unopened bud clusters. Buds that are opened enough to show yellow or purple color are past their prime.

Potatoes and carrots lead off the list of plentiful vegetables for the coming weeks. Carrot acreage is 14 per cent greater than a year ago which will cause carrot supplies to be heavy during February and March.

When buying carrots, shun those that have these traits: oversize—a frequent sign of hard or pithy core; deep green "shoulders" — an indication of a bitter flavor, and a thick mass of leaf stems—a clue to a large, tough core.

There is a large supply of potatoes this year. The economy-minded housewife will find all sorts of ways to serve potatoes—baked, boiled, mashed, escalloped and french fried. And she'll use left-over potatoes in soups, casseroles and potato salad — to stretch her food dollar even further.

Other good buys at this time are apples, grapefruit, cabbage, pecans, honey, frozen and canned red cherries, eggs and turkeys.

Fast Reducing Seen Safe On Proper Diet

Is fast reducing safe...for example, taking off ten pounds in ten days, or twenty pounds in thirty days? At the beginning of a reducing program, it is safe to reduce at a brisk rate, provided your daily diet is adequate in all essential nutrients.

Ida Jean Kain

As a rule, the more overweight you are, the faster you will lose during the first weeks of dieting, for you have more soft fat to lose. A change from a high - carbohydrate to a high - protein diet can bring about a release of water Another reason for a dramatic initial loss is that with a change to a low calorie diet, the circulation often improves to such an extent that excess fluid is removed.

Less salt in your daily food will help you to lose weight faster. If you habitually salt food heavily, put the shaker out of reach. Use a small amount of salt in cooking.

IT HAS BEEN pointed out that obese individuals consume so much food they also take in far too much salt. An excessive salt intake is believed to be a factor in high blood pressure.

Now back to the fast - save reducing diet. The dietary essentials are protein, minerals and vitamins. Proteins provide the building blocks for the cells. Reducing diets must contain sufficient protein to prevent harmful loss of body protein.

An adequate margin is insured by providing about one gram of protein per day for each two pounds of ideal body weight.

Figure each of the following foods as furnishing 7 grams of protein: 1 egg, 1 glass of skim milk or buttermilk, one ounce of cheese, including cottage cheese; one ounce of lean meat, fish or fowl. This figure of 7 is an average and easy to remember. Bread, whole grains, and peas, beans and lentils furnish small but significant amounts of protein.

One egg, a pint of skim milk or buttermilk, 4 to 6 ounces (cooked weight) of lean meat, fish or fowl and two slices of bread furnish 53 to 67 grams of protein. With the smaller meat serving, to boost protein, add a half cup of cottage cheese, or a moderate serving of fish or fowl.

Cottage is an excellent food for a half - cup furnishes 21 grams of protein, 110 calories.

The balance of the menu is made up of fruits, vegetables and unsaturated fat. The daily diet should include some source of linoleic acid, which is an essential fatty acid.

THIS IS furnished in corn oil or cottonseed oil, and in margarines in which only a fraction of the oil is exposed to hydrogenation. Whenever feasible, use oil in cooking. A protective low calorie diet is restricted to foods which furnish their full share of essential nutrients.

Regarding the rate of weight loss; the quarrel is not so much with fast reducing as with faddy fare and inadequate nutrition.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Rail Merger Hearing Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hearing on merger plans of the Norfolk & Western Railway resumes today before examiner Lester R. Conley of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Since the hearing recessed in December, the N & W has added the Akron, Canton & Youngstown Railroad Co. to its plans.

Other railroads involved in the merger proposal are the Nickel Plate, the Wabash, and the Sandusky line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

N&W's application to acquire AC&Y is contingent upon ICC approval of the merger proposal and upon acceptance of the purchase offer by 80 per cent of AC&Y stockholders.

Control would be through a $6.5 million purchase of all outstanding AC&Y stock. The N&W proposal is a followup to AC&Y's earlier agreement to withdraw its petition to the ICC asking that it be included in the consolidation plans.

The purchase offer has been approved by the AC&Y board of directors. The board has recommended that stockholders accept the offer.

The AC&Y runs between Delphos and Mogadore, Ohio, over 229 miles of track, all within Ohio.

LONDON (AP)—Temperatures took a steep dive all over Britain today, but winter had nothing to do with it.

Britain began shaking off a tradition and switched from the Fahrenheit to the centigrade scale of thermometer marking.

The change to the continental way of measuring hot and cold was the first phase of an official program to convert Britons to the decimal system of measuring.

The switch was gradual. Television and radio weathercasts gave both centigrade and Fahrenheit figures. Eventually Fahrenheit will be quietly dropped.

A government move is also under way to discard pounds, shillings and pence for easier-to-reckon decimal currency. A committee has been appointed to work out how the change can best be made.

Buds that are opened enough to show yellow or purple color are past their prime.

Potatoes and carrots lead off the list of plentiful vegetables for the coming weeks. Carrot acreage is 14 per cent greater than a year ago which will cause carrot supplies to be heavy during February and March.

When buying carrots, shun those that have these traits: oversize—a frequent sign of hard or pithy core; deep green "shoulders" — an indication of a bitter flavor, and a thick mass of leaf stems—a clue to a large, tough core.

There is a large supply of potatoes this year. The economy-minded housewife will find all sorts of ways to serve potatoes—baked, boiled, mashed, escalloped and french fried. And she'll use left-over potatoes in soups, casseroles and potato salad — to stretch her food dollar even further.

Other good buys at this time are apples, grapefruit, cabbage, pecans, honey, frozen and canned red cherries, eggs and turkeys.

Fast Reducing Seen Safe On Proper Diet

Is fast reducing safe...for example, taking off ten pounds in ten days, or twenty pounds in thirty days? At the beginning of a reducing program, it is safe to reduce at a brisk rate, provided your daily diet is adequate in all essential nutrients.

Ida Jean Kain

As a rule, the more overweight you are, the faster you will lose during the first weeks of dieting, for you have more soft fat to lose. A change from a high - carbohydrate to a high - protein diet can bring about a release of water. Another reason for a dramatic initial loss is that with a change to a low calorie diet, the circulation often improves to such an extent that excess fluid is removed.

Less salt in your daily food will help you to lose weight faster. If you habitually salt food heavily, put the shaker out of reach. Use a small amount of salt in cooking.

IT HAS BEEN pointed out that obese individuals consume so much food they also take in far too much salt. An excessive salt intake is believed to be a factor in high blood pressure.

Now back to the fast - save reducing diet. The dietary essentials are protein, minerals and vitamins. Proteins provide the building blocks for the cells. Reducing diets must contain sufficient protein to prevent harmful loss of body protein.

An adequate margin is insured by providing about one gram of protein per day for each two pounds of ideal body weight.

Figure each of the following foods as furnishing 7 grams of protein: 1 egg, 1 glass of skim milk or buttermilk, one ounce of cheese, including cottage cheese; one ounce of lean meat, fish or fowl. This figure of 7 is an average and easy to remember. Bread, whole grains, and peas, beans and lentils furnish small but significant amounts of protein.

One egg, a pint of skim milk or buttermilk, 4 to 6 ounces (cooked weight) of lean meat, fish or fowl and two slices of bread furnish 53 to 67 grams of protein. With the smaller meat serving, to boost protein, add a half cup of cottage cheese, or a moderate serving of fish or fowl.

Cottage is an excellent food for a half - cup furnishes 21 grams of protein, 110 calories.

The balance of the menu is made up of fruits, vegetables and unsaturated fat. The daily diet should include some source of linoleic acid, which is an essential fatty acid.

THIS IS furnished in corn oil or cottonseed oil, and in margarines in which only a fraction of the oil is exposed to hydrogenation. Whenever feasible, use oil in cooking. A protective low calorie diet is restricted to foods which furnish their full share of essential nutrients.

Regarding the rate of weight loss; the quarrel is not so much with fast reducing as with faddy fare and inadequate nutrition.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Rail Merger Hearing Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hearing on merger plans of the Norfolk & Western Railway resumes today before examiner Lester R. Conley of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Since the hearing recessed in December, the N & W has added the Akron, Canton & Youngstown Railroad Co. to its plans.

Other railroads involved in the merger proposal are the Nickel Plate, the Wabash, and the Sandusky line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

N&W's application to acquire AC&Y is contingent upon ICC approval of the merger proposal and upon acceptance of the purchase offer by 80 per cent of AC&Y stockholders.

Control would be through a $6.5 million purchase of all outstanding AC&Y stock. The N&W proposal is a followup to AC&Y's earlier agreement to withdraw its petition to the ICC asking that it be included in the consolidation plans.

The purchase offer has been approved by the AC&Y board of directors. The board has recommended that stockholders accept the offer.

The AC&Y runs between Delphos and Mogadore, Ohio, over 229 miles of track, all within Ohio.

LONDON (AP)—Temperatures took a steep dive all over Britain today, but winter had nothing to do with it.

Britain began shaking off a tradition and switched from the Fahrenheit to the centigrade scale of thermometer marking.

The change to the continental way of measuring hot and cold was the first phase of an official program to convert Britons to the decimal system of measuring.

The switch was gradual. Television and radio weathercasts gave both centigrade and Fahrenheit figures. Eventually Fahrenheit will be quietly dropped.

A government move is also under way to discard pounds, shillings and pence for easier-to-reckon decimal currency. A committee has been appointed to work out how the change can best be made.

McElroy Claims New Ohio Laws Curb Gambling

CLEVELAND (AP)—Atty. Gen Mark McElroy of Cleveland says new anti-gambling laws have cut illegal gambling in Ohio by 80 per cent.

"Our research indicates out of the 50 states we now have the toughest anti-gambling racketeering laws in the nation," McElroy told an audience Sunday at the St. James Literary Forum.

He said his fugure was based on information supplied him by policemen and sheriff's around the state.

The legislation, which McElroy initiated, is aimed at helping local authorities battle the numbers rackets, illegal bookmaking, and gambling. Stiffer penalities for specific gambling offenses are provided in the bills.

The attorney general said the new laws do not end the responsibility of Ohio citizens. "We must promote the full utilization of the new law - enforcement weapons," he said.

McElroy, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, used a question period after his talk to hurl some verbal barbs at Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, his opponent in the primary race.

"Gov. DiSalle was his own worst enemy in trying to promote his program," McElroy said. "He called people names, lost his poise and lost his ability as a leader."

He accused the governor of not having the courage to ask for higher taxes when DiSalle felt they were needed. "Instead, he submitted a budget that asked the legislature indirectly to vote him more taxes," he said.

Youth Gets 10-Day Sentence On Driving Without License

An 18-year-old city driver was given a 10-day jail term and four other motorists were fined in traffic hearings today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Jimmy Lee Kraft, 233 Center St., drew the County Jail term from Judge Chertoff after pleading guilty to a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

Kraft was cited by police Friday on Harvey Ave. and had posted a $57.50 bond for the hearing this morning.

When arraigned before the jurist, Kraft said he lost his license in 1959, but during the continuing questioning he admitted it was taken by the state, but he couldn't recall the charge.

Judge Chertoff learned Kraft's license was suspended for three months last September in another traffic hearing. The judge said Kraft hasn't filed an application for the return of his license because he hasn't secured financial responsibility insurance.

John H. Vaughn, 56, of 2131 Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a reckless driving charge, but a hearing on a charge of driving with illegal registration was continued until Jan. 23.

Vaughn was cited by police Wednesday night when they alleged he attempted to turn north onto Broadway but missed the railroad crossing and shot across the crossing, with his car finally coming to a halt against an apartment building.

Emmett Johnson, 729 E. 4th St., who told Judge Chertoff he has been a trucker for 38 years, and Mary K. Lockhart of Wyoming Ave. were fined $10 and costs each on charges of overtaking and passing a slow-moving truck over a yellow line on the Cannons Mill Hill on Route 30 Friday morning.

John Krivoski of Brookfield, Ohio, cited by the State Highway Patrol at the same time for the same violation, is scheduled for a hearing Friday morning.

William F. Mcle, 431 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, was fined $10 and costs for speeding Sunday night on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He was cited by the patrol.

THE RECOMMENDATION of the development committee was to continue with the master plan and to survey the property. It will give specific recommendations at the next meeting.

Brubaker gave the recommendations of the operations committee. They include establishment of a camp office and addition of a "booster" to the hot water supply of the dish washer to maintain a constant temperature of 180 degrees.

The need of more cabins also was discussed and it was recommended that individual churches might wish to consider sponsoring a cabin at an average cost of $1,000. Miss Larick reminded the group that the philosophy of small group camping is the objective approved by the trustees.

OTHER MEMBERS of the administration committee are Rev. Marin, Donald Walters of Minerva, Horger and Mrs. Pepin. It is responsible for scheduling day and week-end use of the camp, promotion of the site, finances and public relations.

The camp now is scheduling weekends in the entire year, as the new winter quarters are in operation.

The program committee's duties include establishment of the residing camping program, recruitment and training of volunteer leadership and the promotion of the camping program and camping standards.

McElroy Claims New Ohio Laws Curb Gambling

CLEVELAND (AP)—Atty. Gen Mark McElroy of Cleveland says new anti-gambling laws have cut illegal gambling in Ohio by 80 per cent.

"Our research indicates out of the 50 states we now have the toughest anti-gambling racketeering laws in the nation," McElroy told an audience Sunday at the St. James Literary Forum.

He said his fugure was based on information supplied him by policemen and sheriff's around the state.

The legislation, which McElroy initiated, is aimed at helping local authorities battle the numbers rackets, illegal bookmaking, and gambling. Stiffer penalities for specific gambling offenses are provided in the bills.

The attorney general said the new laws do not end the responsibility of Ohio citizens. "We must promote the full utilization of the new law - enforcement weapons," he said.

McElroy, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, used a question period after his talk to hurl some verbal barbs at Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, his opponent in the primary race.

"Gov. DiSalle was his own worst enemy in trying to promote his program," McElroy said. "He called people names, lost his poise and lost his ability as a leader."

He accused the governor of not having the courage to ask for higher taxes when DiSalle felt they were needed. "Instead, he submitted a budget that asked the legislature indirectly to vote him more taxes," he said.

Youth Gets 10-Day Sentence On Driving Without License

An 18-year-old city driver was given a 10-day jail term and four other motorists were fined in traffic hearings today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Jimmy Lee Kraft, 233 Center St., drew the County Jail term from Judge Chertoff after pleading guilty to a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

Kraft was cited by police Friday on Harvey Ave. and had posted a $57.50 bond for the hearing this morning.

When arraigned before the jurist, Kraft said he lost his license in 1959, but during the continuing questioning he admitted it was taken by the state, but he couldn't recall the charge.

Judge Chertoff learned Kraft's license was suspended for three months last September in another traffic hearing. The judge said Kraft hasn't filed an application for the return of his license because he hasn't secured financial responsibility insurance.

John H. Vaughn, 56, of 2131 Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a reckless driving charge, but a hearing on a charge of driving with illegal registration was continued until Jan. 23.

Vaughn was cited by police Wednesday night when they alleged he attempted to turn north onto Broadway but missed the railroad crossing and shot across the crossing, with his car finally coming to a halt against an apartment building.

Emmett Johnson, 729 E. 4th St., who told Judge Chertoff he has been a trucker for 38 years, and Mary K. Lockhart of Wyoming Ave. were fined $10 and costs each on charges of overtaking and passing a slow-moving truck over a yellow line on the Cannons Mill Hill on Route 30 Friday morning.

John Krivoski of Brookfield, Ohio, cited by the State Highway Patrol at the same time for the same violation, is scheduled for a hearing Friday morning.

William F. Mcle, 431 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, was fined $10 and costs for speeding Sunday night on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He was cited by the patrol.

Stanton's Streak Reaches 10 In 75-38 Romp Over Beavers

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

While boarding the Beaver Local bus for a short trip to Irondale Saturday night, a youngster was overhead confiding in a teammate: "Gee, if the coach puts me in for just a few minutes, I can say that I played against Don Spires."

The kid wanting to face the towering Spires didn't quite get his wish.

Almost, however, for he was called upon for varsity duty in the last minutes just as "Wilt" headed for the bench amid solid applause for another stellar performance.

The Raiders breezed to a 75-38 win over the Beavers as Spires controlled the boards and teammate Bob Mills, 6-2 senior, cashed in heavily at the foul stripe.

AN OVERFLOW crowd at Irondale saw Coach Harry Diehl's Red Raiders extend their two-season victory string to 29 in 30 games.

It set the stage for a battle with Newell Tuesday night. Stanton will carry a home-court record of 22-1 in three years against the West Virginians. Their last defeat on the home boards came Feb. 9, 1960, against Springfield.

But Coach Diehl isn't regarding Newell lightly and said he expects one of the stiffest challenges of the season. The West Virginians (6-3) will present a strong one-two wallop in Dave Bell and Mick Staley, each scoring at a 20-plus clip per game.

—:—

SPIRES AND Mills outscored the Beaver Local squad by themselves, sharing 44 points, but it was a team effort all the way.

Fouled consistently in bringing the ball upcourt on offense, Mills poured in 14 of 20 free throws and added five field goals for 24 points to lead all scorers.

Spires, passing off to his teammates often, hit eight field goals and four fouls for 20 points and picked off a bundle of rebounds.

It was just a case of too much all-around balance and height advantage for Coach Tom McCall's Beavers.

FORWARD JIM LEEDY, 6-2 senior, one of the most underrated players in the district, and starters Marlon McCune, 6-2 junior, and Curt Rose, 6-2 senior, helped Stanton with steady play.

Leedy and Rose each hit for six points, while McCuen registered 12, including eight at the foul line. McCuen provided a lot of help for Spires under the boards when the All-Ohio center was caught out of position.

Without a big man in the front court, the Beavers were forced to carry their attack from long range and bounded a half - dozen shots off the low ceiling.

George Gaydos and Larry Carroll found the range consistently in the first quarter with long push shots to keep the Beavers in strong contention.

As the second quarter opened, Stanton hit five straight points on McCuen's jump shot and two foul shots by Mills to pull away to 23-13. Stanton had the game well in hand by halftime, 39-23.

A close preliminary game found Coach Don McBride's Stanton Local reserves (7-3) edging the Beaver reserves, 43-37. Scott Porter's 15 points led the winners, while Dennis Horger had 15 for Beaver Local.

RAVENNA — Salem's Bill Beery was held to nine points one of his lowest outputs of the season but Bob Eskay went on a 23-point scoring spree in Salem's 56-50 win over Ravenna here Saturday night.

The victory was Salem's sixth in seven starts.

Locals Behind 13 At Half, Rally To Notch 4th Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

It's surprising what happens to a basketball team when it starts hitting from the field, rebounding and generally outhustling its opponent.

The East Liverpool Potters found out Saturday night when they came up with an outstanding second - half performance to nip Ashland, 46-45, before some 1,000 fans at Memorial Auditorium.

Coach Jim Harris saw his team lose by the same margin of one point a week previous at Youngstown South, but Saturday watched the Potters come from 13 points behind at halftime to pick up their fourth victory against three defeats.

After the exciting contest, which woke up the crowd in the second half, Harris commented, "We played only one half of a game tonight."

The Potter coach was more than pleased with his team's second-half performance, but quite disgusted with what unfolded in the first half.

ASHLAND brought a 4-5 record here and immediately opened up with a 15-8 margin at the end of the first quarter. In that period, East Liverpool, which was as cold as last week's temperatures, missed its first 13 shots.

While the Potters were shooting frequently but missing, Ashland piled up a lead and when the halftime buzzer blew had widened the score to 32-19.

In the second half, Ashland was as bad as East Liverpool was the first half. The Potters came out, showed a lot of scrap and began popping in field goals.

During the third quarter, East Liverpool outscored Ashland 15-4 as the visitors tallied only one field goal in 10 trys along with a pair of fouls.

The fine third period still didn't bring the Potters even with Ashland, which held a 36-34 lead going into the hectic fourth period.

—:—

WHAT finally decided the contest was a pair of fouls by Dave Harriel with the hands of the clock exactly on the one minute mark. Harriel's charity tosses put East Liverpool in front 46-44.

Ashland's substitute Bruce Stefan, a pint-sized 5-foot-6 cager, stood at the foul line and had a chance to tie the score with 37 seconds to go, but made only one of two tries.

The Arrows gained control on two other occasions before the game ended, once when key substitute Roger Linville threw a pass out of bounds and again with only 10 seconds remaining. On both occasions Mike Humrichouser shot but missed. The final shot by Humrichouser was a desperation try from mid-court. It hit the rim but bounded off as the buzzer sounded and Ashland's last hope of victory died.

JUNIOR Ed Prentice turned in his best performance of the season. His contribution wasn't measured in points so much, since he only made five, but they all came in the third quarter drive.

Prentice, who had been warned before the game by his coach that he would ride the bench if his performance didn't pick up, was benched in the second period.

However, he came out and played a whale of a second half showing more agressiveness than at any other time this campaign.

Dean Cline also came to life and led the Potters scoring with 11 points. He and Prentice turned in a good job of rebounding in the second half.

Gary "Huck" Steffan, committing five fouls in quick order, left the game with 5:10 still remaining in the third quarter.

His substitute, junior Roger Linville, the top scorer on the reserve squad last year, was a key factor in the Potter comeback victory. He contributed eight big points to the attack.

—:—

JACK Deshler and Dave Harriel popped in 10 points each. Deshler had eight in the first half, while Harriel reversed that by scoring nine of his 10 points in the second half and seven in the important fourth period.

East Liverpool was given a big lift at the foul line, dropping in 12 of 15. Ashland was given an opportunity to win the contest from the foul line, but converted only 17 of 27.

Both teams were dismal from the field, although the Potters did pick up the slack in the second half. Final totals show each team shooting 26 per cent.

In the second half, Ashland made only three field goals in 20 tries, while East Liverpool canned 10 of 33.

The Potters never were in the lead, or tied, until 4:45 remained in the game.

HARRIEL'S shot from under the bucket tied the score at 40-40 and two minutes later, with only 2:04 remaining, Cline put East Liverpool in front for the first time 42-40.

Ashland tied it again at 42-42 on a fielder by Jim Bear with 1:50 showing. Harriel again put the Potters in front at 1:34, then a pair of fouls by Smalley deadlocked the count at 44-44 and only 1:16 remained.

Harriel stepped to the line with 60 seconds to go and calmly became the game's late hero with two foul shots.

Ashland ended the game without three starters. Jim Springer, a regular, didn't make the trip here because of influenza; Larry Seidner, Springer's replacement, received a bump on the head in the second quarter when he slid into a wall at the north end of the floor while going after a loose ball, and center Dan Stark left the game with 2:50 to go after suffering a knee injury.

Trailing 12-11 at the first quarter, Coach Frank Chan's team picked up momentum and reached a 27-19 edge at halftime, then coasted the rest of the way.

Stanton's Streak Reaches 10 In 75-38 Romp Over Beavers

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

While boarding the Beaver Local bus for a short trip to Irondale Saturday night, a youngster was overhead confiding in a teammate: "Gee, if the coach puts me in for just a few minutes, I can say that I played against Don Spires."

Almost, however, for he was called upon for varsity duty in the last minutes just as "Wilt" headed for the bench amid solid applause for another stellar performance.

The Raiders breezed to a 75-38 win over the Beavers as Spires controlled the boards and teammate Bob Mills, 6-2 senior, cashed in heavily at the foul stripe.

AN OVERFLOW crowd at Irondale saw Coach Harry Diehl's Red Raiders extend their two-season victory string to 29 in 30 games.

It set the stage for a battle with Newell Tuesday night. Stanton will carry a home-court record of 22-1 in three years against the West Virginians. Their last defeat on the home boards came Feb. 9, 1960, against Springfield.

But Coach Diehl isn't regarding Newell lightly and said he expects one of the stiffest challenges of the season. The West Virginians (6-3) will present a strong one-two wallop in Dave Bell and Mick Staley, each scoring at a 20-plus clip per game.

—:—

SPIRES AND Mills outscored the Beaver Local squad by themselves, sharing 44 points, but it was a team effort all the way.

Fouled consistently in bringing the ball upcourt on offense, Mills poured in 14 of 20 free throws and added five field goals for 24 points to lead all scorers.

Spires, passing off to his teammates often, hit eight field goals and four fouls for 20 points and picked off a bundle of rebounds.

It was just a case of too much all-around balance and height advantage for Coach Tom McCall's Beavers.

FORWARD JIM LEEDY, 6-2 senior, one of the most underrated players in the district, and starters Marlon McCune, 6-2 junior, and Curt Rose, 6-2 senior, helped Stanton with steady play.

Leedy and Rose each hit for six points, while McCuen registered 12, including eight at the foul line. McCuen provided a lot of help for Spires under the boards when the All-Ohio center was caught out of position.

Without a big man in the front court, the Beavers were forced to carry their attack from long range and bounded a half - dozen shots off the low ceiling.

George Gaydos and Larry Carroll found the range consistently in the first quarter with long push shots to keep the Beavers in strong contention.

As the second quarter opened, Stanton hit five straight points on McCuen's jump shot and two foul shots by Mills to pull away to 23-13. Stanton had the game well in hand by halftime, 39-23.

A close preliminary game found Coach Don McBride's Stanton Local reserves (7-3) edging the Beaver reserves, 43-37. Scott Porter's 15 points led the winners, while Dennis Horger had 15 for Beaver Local.

COACHES and players huddle around Ashland's Larry Seidner, who received what appeared to be a serious bump on the head when he went after a loose ball and slid into an unprotected wall at Memorial Auditorium Saturday night during action in the East Liverpool-Ashland game. Seidner was not injured seriously, however. Looking on is East Liverpool's Roger Linville (22) and Ashland's Jim Baird (25). The referee is Walt Zimmerman. Sam Marchio, Ashland's head coach, is shown bent over the injured player.

Salem Tops Ravenna

RAVENNA — Salem's Bill Beery was held to nine points one of his lowest outputs of the season but Bob Eskay went on a 23-point scoring spree in Salem's 56-50 win over Ravenna here Saturday night.

Ravenna's slow brand of ball confused the Quakers through the early going. Salem trailed at the first quarter, 12-11 and only showed a 27-24 edge at halftime.

The victory was Salem's sixth in seven starts.

Salem's reserves copped the opener, 51-36.

Locals Behind 13 At Half, Rally To Notch 4th Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

It's surprising what happens to a basketball team when it starts hitting from the field, rebounding and generally outhustling its opponent.

The East Liverpool Potters found out Saturday night when they came up with an outstanding second - half performance to nip Ashland, 46-45, before some 1,000 fans at Memorial Auditorium.

Coach Jim Harris saw his team lose by the same margin of one point a week previous at Youngstown South, but Saturday watched the Potters come from 13 points behind at halftime to pick up their fourth victory against three defeats.

After the exciting contest, which woke up the crowd in the second half, Harris commented, "We played only one half of a game tonight."

The Potter coach was more than pleased with his team's second-half performance, but quite disgusted with what unfolded in the first half.

ASHLAND brought a 4-5 record here and immediately opened up with a 15-8 margin at the end of the first quarter. In that period, East Liverpool, which was as cold as last week's temperatures, missed its first 13 shots.

While the Potters were shooting frequently but missing, Ashland piled up a lead and when the halftime buzzer blew had widened the score to 32-19.

In the second half, Ashland was as bad as East Liverpool was the first half. The Potters came out, showed a lot of scrap and began popping in field goals.

During the third quarter, East Liverpool outscored Ashland 15-4 as the visitors tallied only one field goal in 10 trys along with a pair of fouls.

The fine third period still didn't bring the Potters even with Ashland, which held a 36-34 lead going into the hectic fourth period.

WHAT finally decided the contest was a pair of fouls by Dave Harriel with the hands of the clock exactly on the one minute mark. Harriel's charity tosses put East Liverpool in front 46-44.

Ashland's substitute Bruce Stefan, a pint-sized 5-foot-6 cager, stood at the foul line and had a chance to tie the score with 37 seconds to go, but made only one of two tries.

The Arrows gained control on two other occasions before the game ended, once when key substitute Roger Linville threw a pass out of bounds and again with only 10 seconds remaining. On both occasions Mike Humrichouser shot but missed. The final shot by Humrichouser was a desperation try from mid-court. It hit the rim but bounded off as the buzzer sounded and Ashland's last hope of victory died.

JUNIOR Ed Prentice turned in his best performance of the season. His contribution wasn't measured in points so much, since he only made five, but they all came in the third quarter drive.

Prentice, who had been warned before the game by his coach that he would ride the bench if his performance didn't pick up, was benched in the second period.

However, he came out and played a whale of a second half showing more agressiveness than at any other time this campaign.

Dean Cline also came to life and led the Potters scoring with 11 points. He and Prentice turned in a good job of rebounding in the second half.

His substitute, junior Roger Linville, the top scorer on the reserve squad last year, was a key factor in the Potter comeback victory. He contributed eight big points to the attack.

—:—

JACK Deshler and Dave Harriel popped in 10 points each. Deshler had eight in the first half, while Harriel reversed that by scoring nine of his 10 points in the second half and seven in the important fourth period.

East Liverpool was given a big lift at the foul line, dropping in 12 of 15. Ashland was given an opportunity to win the contest from the foul line, but converted only 17 of 27.

Both teams were dismal from the field, although the Potters did pick up the slack in the second half. Final totals show each team shooting 26 per cent.

In the second half, Ashland made only three field goals in 20 tries, while East Liverpool canned 10 of 33.

The Potters never were in the lead, or tied, until 4:45 remained in the game.

HARRIEL'S shot from under the bucket tied the score at 40-40 and two minutes later, with only 2:04 remaining, Cline put East Liverpool in front for the first time 42-40.

Ashland tied it again at 42-42 on a fielder by Jim Bear with 1:50 showing. Harriel again put the Potters in front at 1:34, then a pair of fouls by Smalley deadlocked the count at 44-44 and only 1:16 remained.

Harriel stepped to the line with 60 seconds to go and calmly became the game's late hero with two foul shots.

Ashland ended the game without three starters. Jim Springer, a regular, didn't make the trip here because of influenza; Larry Seidner, Springer's replacement, received a bump on the head in the second quarter when he slid into a wall at the north end of the floor while going after a loose ball, and center Dan Stark left the game with 2:50 to go after suffering a knee injury.

Nine Potter reserves, led by Tom Kraft and Dave Oliver, broke into the scoring column. Kraft and Oliver came up with 14 points each.

Trailing 12-11 at the first quarter, Coach Frank Chan's team picked up momentum and reached a 27-19 edge at halftime, then coasted the rest of the way.

Mounties Look Like Sure Thing In Southern Loop

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If anything is sure in Southern Conference basketball, it's West Virginia.

Of course a basketball sometimes can take funny bounces, and it did for West Virginia last March. Overwhelming favorites to win the conference title for the seventh straight time, the Mountaineers were toppled by William and Mary in the league tournament semifinals and the crown eventually went to George Washington.

That took place at the Richmond Arena, which West Virginia will visit tonight for the first time since that unhappy experience last year. The high-powered Mountaineers, fresh from a 120-68 romp over George Washington Saturday night and with a glistening 8-0 conference record, have their second meeting of the season with Richmond's Spiders. They handled Richmond a month ago without strain, 97-61.

The Mountaineers were among the nation's top ten about that time, but were dumped out after a string of three successive losses. Since then they've surged back by winning five straight, counting Villanova among their victims, and are prime candidates for a re-entry into the rankings with an 11-3 mark.

There are likely to be some shaking up in those ratings, too, after some surprises last week. Fourth-ranked Southern California (12-3) was upset, sixth-ranked Villanova (13-2) got racked up, seventh-ranked Mississippi State's (10-1) unbeaten string came to an abrupt end, and second-ranked Cincinnati (11-2) again found the jinx at Bradley too much.

Vanderbilt crushed Mississippi State 100-86, starting the Bulldogs off on a sad note on their three-game road trip. Next comes Georgia Tech tonight and Mississippi Saturday night.

That loss by Mississippi State left the smooth and awesome Buckeyes of Ohio State as the country's only undefeated team. The top-ranked Bucks ran over Michigan 89-64 Saturday for their 12th straight, and will have a week's rest before resuming their Big Ten campaign at Minnesota.

Villanova was upended, but big, by Xavier on the Ohioans' court, 87-66. Southern California could do no more than split in its Big Five series at Washington, losing 85-67 Friday night as Bill Hanson scored 37 points and rebounding 78-64 Saturday night despite another fine game by Hanson, who umped in 32 more points.

Cincinnati's downfall came last Wednesday night in a 70-68 overtime loss to Bradley.

Vikings Face Undefeated Stanton Local In Big Test Tuesday Night

Stopping Newell's Mick Staley is like halting a herd of cattle. The veteran Newell senior kept up his outstanding scoring with a 29-point night Saturday in the Vikings narrow 66-64 victory at Farmington.

The game with Farmington was one postponed from earlier in the season and became Newell's sixth victory in nine starts.

Staley who now has sent his total to 204 will have to keep up his high-point making if Newell expects to pull any surprises at Stanton Local Tuesday night.

In Saturday's game, a pair of foul shots in the last five seconds by sophomore Jim Johnston eventually proved the margin of victory. Newell was leading 64-62 when Johnson converted the fouls and Coach John Robison ordered his team to relax on defense and gave Farmington its last basket as the game ended.

The Vikings were behind 20-11 at the end of the first quarter but came racing back to within three points at halftime, 33-30. Newell finally forged ahead 46-45 at the end of the third period. Farmington tied the score several times in the fourth quarter but never went in front of the Vikings.

Staley's total came on 14 field goals and only one charity toss. Junior Dave Bell, Staley's running mate in the scoring department, accounted for 14 points and Sam Simmons hit the double figures with 10.

Strother's 19 points and Sanders' 17 sparked the losing Farmington five.

West Edges East, 31-30, In Wildest Of Pro Bowls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The West emerged from the 1962 Pro Bowl, one of the wildest ever, with a 31-30 victory—but it took a combination of triumph and tragedy to overturn the underdog East.

The National Football League's postseason thriller was witnessed Sunday by 57,409 Coliseum fans and a national television audience of millions.

There was a 12-yard touchdown pass by Johnny Unitas to Jon Arnett in the last two seconds, a last-minute fumble by the East's Jim Brown that paved the way for the final West score, and a blocked conversion attempt in the third period.

After it was over, Brown — named the most valuable player —said he felt more like a goat.

With a minute left and the ball on the East's 41, Unitas went to work. The Baltimore star passed for 15 yards to rookie Mike Ditka of Chicago and 14 yards to Colt teammate Lenny Moore. With 15 seconds left, a Unitas pass to Moore fell incomplete.

As the seconds ticked away, Unitas faded, barely eluding the grasp of New York's Andy Robustelli. Rolling to his left, the quarterback spotted elusive Los Angeles halfback Jon Arnett alone in the end zone and tossed him a perfect strike.

Another crucial play occurred in the third quarter when Green Bay's Henry Jordan and Detroit's Dick (Night Train) Lane broke through to bat down an Eastern conversion attempt. Jordan was named most valuable lineman. The blocked point eventually spelled defeat for the East, the loser in the last three Pro Bowl games. The West has an 8-4 edge in the series.

Unitas, always unruffled, said of the winning TD toss: "Mike Ditka was the primary target, but he was held up at the line. I was lucky to get out of a trap."

Unitas, most valuable player in the '60s and '61 Pro Bowls, completed 13 of 23 passes for 162 yards and two touchdowns.

Poland Gains 9th Straight

POLAND — Lisbon wasn't any match for the undefeated Poland Bulldogs, who ran their string to nine straight here Saturday night with a 61-42 decision.

The win was also Poland's fifth in the Tri-County League.

Tim Walter and Daver Barnhizer shared scoring honors with 16 each, while Craig Pannier tossed in 14 for the losers.

Mounties Look Like Sure Thing In Southern Loop

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If anything is sure in Southern Conference basketball, it's West Virginia.

Of course a basketball sometimes can take funny bounces, and it did for West Virginia last March. Overwhelming favorites to win the conference title for the seventh straight time, the Mountaineers were toppled by William and Mary in the league tournament semifinals and the crown eventually went to George Washington.

That took place at the Richmond Arena, which West Virginia will visit tonight for the first time since that unhappy experience last year. The high-powered Mountaineers, fresh from a 120-68 romp over George Washington Saturday night and with a glistening 8-0 conference record, have their second meeting of the season with Richmond's Spiders. They handled Richmond a month ago without strain, 97-61.

The Mountaineers were among the nation's top ten about that time, but were dumped out after a string of three successive losses. Since then they've surged back by winning five straight, counting Villanova among their victims, and are prime candidates for a re-entry into the rankings with an 11-3 mark.

There are likely to be some shaking up in those ratings, too, after some surprises last week. Fourth-ranked Southern California (12-3) was upset, sixth-ranked Villanova (13-2) got racked up, seventh-ranked Mississippi State's (10-1) unbeaten string came to an abrupt end, and second-ranked Cincinnati (11-2) again found the jinx at Bradley too much.

Vanderbilt crushed Mississippi State 100-86, starting the Bulldogs off on a sad note on their three-game road trip. Next comes Georgia Tech tonight and Mississippi Saturday night.

That loss by Mississippi State left the smooth and awesome Buckeyes of Ohio State as the country's only undefeated team. The top-ranked Bucks ran over Michigan 89-64 Saturday for their 12th straight, and will have a week's rest before resuming their Big Ten campaign at Minnesota.

Villanova was upended, but big, by Xavier on the Ohioans' court, 87-66. Southern California could do no more than split in its Big Five series at Washington, losing 85-67 Friday night as Bill Hanson scored 37 points and rebounding 78-64 Saturday night despite another fine game by Hanson, who umped in 32 more points.

Cincinnati's downfall came last Wednesday night in a 70-68 overtime loss to Bradley.

Vikings Face Undefeated Stanton Local In Big Test Tuesday Night

Stopping Newell's Mick Staley is like halting a herd of cattle. The veteran Newell senior kept up his outstanding scoring with a 29-point night Saturday in the Vikings narrow 66-64 victory at Farmington.

The game with Farmington was one postponed from earlier in the season and became Newell's sixth victory in nine starts.

Staley who now has sent his total to 204 will have to keep up his high-point making if Newell expects to pull any surprises at Stanton Local Tuesday night.

In Saturday's game, a pair of foul shots in the last five seconds by sophomore Jim Johnston eventually proved the margin of victory. Newell was leading 64-62 when Johnson converted the fouls and Coach John Robison ordered his team to relax on defense and gave Farmington its last basket as the game ended.

The Vikings were behind 20-11 at the end of the first quarter but came racing back to within three points at halftime, 33-30. Newell finally forged ahead 46-45 at the end of the third period. Farmington tied the score several times in the fourth quarter but never went in front of the Vikings.

Staley's total came on 14 field goals and only one charity toss. Junior Dave Bell, Staley's running mate in the scoring department, accounted for 14 points and Sam Simmons hit the double figures with 10.

Strother's 19 points and Sanders' 17 sparked the losing Farmington five.

Winners Score In Last 2 Seconds

West Edges East, 31-30, In Wildest Of Pro Bowls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The West emerged from the 1962 Pro Bowl, one of the wildest ever, with a 31-30 victory—but it took a combination of triumph and tragedy to overturn the underdog East.

The National Football League's postseason thriller was witnessed Sunday by 57,409 Coliseum fans and a national television audience of millions.

There was a 12-yard touchdown pass by Johnny Unitas to Jon Arnett in the last two seconds, a last-minute fumble by the East's Jim Brown that paved the way for the final West score, and a blocked conversion attempt in the third period.

After it was over, Brown — named the most valuable player —said he felt more like a goat.

With a minute left and the ball on the East's 41, Unitas went to work. The Baltimore star passed for 15 yards to rookie Mike Ditka of Chicago and 14 yards to Colt teammate Lenny Moore. With 15 seconds left, a Unitas pass to Moore fell incomplete.

As the seconds ticked away, Unitas faded, barely eluding the grasp of New York's Andy Robustelli. Rolling to his left, the quarterback spotted elusive Los Angeles halfback Jon Arnett alone in the end zone and tossed him a perfect strike.

Another crucial play occurred in the third quarter when Green Bay's Henry Jordan and Detroit's Dick (Night Train) Lane broke through to bat down an Eastern conversion attempt. Jordan was named most valuable lineman. The blocked point eventually spelled defeat for the East, the loser in the last three Pro Bowl games. The West has an 8-4 edge in the series.

Unitas, always unruffled, said of the winning TD toss: "Mike Ditka was the primary target, but he was held up at the line. I was lucky to get out of a trap."

Unitas, most valuable player in the '60s and '61 Pro Bowls, completed 13 of 23 passes for 162 yards and two touchdowns.

Plant Slated At Mansfield

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Cylinder Gas Division of Chemetron Corp. has announced plans to build a plant in Mansfield, Ohio, to supply oxygen to the Empire-Reeves Steel Corp. there.

The first unit of the new plant will produce 50 tons of oxygen a day and is expected to be in operation within six months.

Empire-Reeves will be the first steel mill of its kind to use oxy-natural gas roof burners to increase production, National Cylinder President J. L. Adank, said.

The Mansfield plant is a subsidiary of Universal-Cyclops Steel Corp. of Bridgeville, Pa. It is a "cold metal" shop, producing its finished steel entirely from scrap instead of combining it with steel melted from iron ore as in "hot metal" operations.

National Cylinder's oxy - gas burners will shorten the time needed to melt the scrap steel in open hearth furnaces, enabling refining processes to be started sooner and more steel produced, Adank said. The system was designed specifically for Empire-Reeves, and the oxygen from the new plant will be used in the Mansfield mill only.

Trucker Admits Hit-Skip Mishap Killing 2 Youths

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Police said charges are to be filed today against a truck driver held in connection with the hit-skip deaths of two Akron teenagers.

Police Capt. Woodrow Meadows said John I. Huffman, 36, the truck driver, admitted he was driving the car which hit the motorscooter on which the boys were riding Saturday night.

Meadows quoted Huffman as saying he had been drinking and panicked after the accident because he was afraid his driver's license would be revoked. Huffman told police he recently received a five-year pin for not having any chargeable accidents.

Killed were Ernest A. Beltram, 16, and Robert Shearer Jr., 15. They were cousins.

Police picked up Huffman at his home after they found the car Huffman told police he drove from the accident scene. Huffman, father of four, worked for Roadway Express, Inc.

Plant Slated At Mansfield

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Cylinder Gas Division of Chemetron Corp. has announced plans to build a plant in Mansfield, Ohio, to supply oxygen to the Empire-Reeves Steel Corp. there.

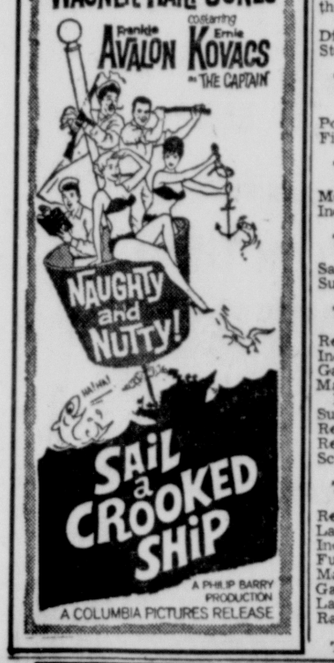

The first unit of the new plant will produce 50 tons of oxygen a day and is expected to be in operation within six months.

Empire-Reeves will be the first steel mill of its kind to use oxy-natural gas roof burners to increase production, National Cylinder President J. L. Adank, said.

The Mansfield plant is a subsidiary of Universal-Cyclops Steel Corp. of Bridgeville, Pa. It is a "cold metal" shop, producing its finished steel entirely from scrap instead of combining it with steel melted from iron ore as in "hot metal" operations.

National Cylinder's oxy - gas burners will shorten the time needed to melt the scrap steel in open hearth furnaces, enabling refining processes to be started sooner and more steel produced, Adank said. The system was designed specifically for Empire-Reeves, and the oxygen from the new plant will be used in the Mansfield mill only.

Trucker Admits Hit-Skip Mishap Killing 2 Youths

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Police said charges are to be filed today against a truck driver held in connection with the hit-skip deaths of two Akron teenagers.

Police Capt. Woodrow Meadows said John I. Huffman, 36, the truck driver, admitted he was driving the car which hit the motorscooter on which the boys were riding Saturday night.

Meadows quoted Huffman as saying he had been drinking and panicked after the accident because he was afraid his driver's license would be revoked. Huffman told police he recently received a five-year pin for not having any chargeable accidents.

Killed were Ernest A. Beltram, 16, and Robert Shearer Jr., 15. They were cousins.

Police picked up Huffman at his home after they found the car Huffman told police he drove from the accident scene. Huffman, father of four, worked for Roadway Express, Inc.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How do I wash organdy curtains?

A. Soak white organdy, dimity or net curtains in lukewarm water before washing. Even the most immaculate housekeeper will be surprised at the amount of dirt that has accumulated in the sheer curtains in a short period of time. Lift the curtains out carefully, and drain off the dirty water. Wash in heavy lukewarm suds made with gentle soapflakes, rinse thoroughly, and roll into towels. Iron when partly dry.

Q. Is there a "homemade" glue that will stick glass to glass, leather to metal, or other such unusual combinations?

A. Try burning some shellac in a dish to get rid of the alcohol. The result will be one of the strongest and best all - purpose glues you've ever used.

Q. How can I make wood more durable and weatherproof?

A. By covering it with several coats of hot linseed oil varnish.

Q. How can I prepare Welsh rarebit?

A. Melt a tablespoon of butter over low heat. Add a cup of grated cheddar cheese. As it melts, add ¼-cup of beer. Add ½-teaspoon of dry mustard, and a dash of cayenne to a well-beaten egg. Add to the cheese - beer mixture, stir well, and cook one minute longer.

Q. How can I clean a vinegar cruet that has become cloudy and has an accumulation of mineral deposit in the bottom?

A. Fill the cruet with water, add a little ammonia, and let stand for several hours, or overnight. Then rinse with clear, hot water.

Q. How can I re-whiten some linen that has become yellow from long storage?

A. You can bleach this into whiteness again by letting it soak in buttermilk for two or three days.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHARIOTS

QUESTION: Were the Romans the first to use the chariot?

ANSWER: The ancestor of all today's wheeled vehicles is the ancient chariot. It was used in battle, in hunting, in public processions, in games, and also simply for transportation. It had two wheels, each with either four or eight spokes, and usually was drawn by two horses though sometimes two additional horses were added. The Persians and Britons used to extend sharp blades from the axles of their chariots and literally cut down their enemies in battle. The wheels and body of the chariot usually were of wood, and the tires of iron or bronze.

Most of us are more familiar with the Greek and Roman chariot, which was used mainly for racing and for triumphal parades. It held only one man who stood on a platform, with a semicircular barrier around the front about half the driver's height. In battle, he often tied the reins around his waist to free both hands for fighting. Chariots of the Egyptians and Assyrians were fitted with large quivers for arrows, because their main weapon was the bow. Because virtually all the nations of antiquity used chariots in one form or another, it is impossible to say who used them first.

FOR YOU TO DO: A thrilling description of a chariot race is in the book "Ben Hur," by Lew Wallace. An even better account, since it was written by a man who actually saw chariot races, is contained in Virgil's "Aeneid."

Junior Editors Quiz on CHARIOTS

QUESTION: Were the Romans the first to use the chariot?

ANSWER: The ancestor of all today's wheeled vehicles is the ancient chariot. It was used in battle, in hunting, in public processions, in games, and also simply for transportation. It had two wheels, each with either four or eight spokes, and usually was drawn by two horses though sometimes two additional horses were added. The Persians and Britons used to extend sharp blades from the axles of their chairots and literally cut down their enemies in battle. The wheels and body of the chariot usually were of wood, and the tires of iron or bronze.

Most of us are more familiar with the Greek and Roman chariot, which was used mainly for racing and for triumphal parades. It held only one man who stood on a platform, with a semicircular barrier around the front about half the driver's height. In battle, he often tied the reins around his waist to free both hands for fighting. Chariots of the Egyptians and Assyrians were fitted with large quivers for arrows, because their main weapon was the bow. Because virtually all the nations of antiquity used chariots in one form or another, it is impossible to say who used them first.

FOR YOU TO DO: A thrilling description of a chariot race is in the book "Ben Hur," by Lew Wallace. An even better account, since it was written by a man who actually saw chariot races, is contained in Virgil's "Aeneid."

Taxes, Spending To Be Key Issues

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio—For the second time, Mike DiSalle has "cleared the air" about his political plans.

The first time, when he announced last Oct. 20 he would not seek re-election, the air didn't stay cleared. This time, presumably, it will.

Clarified also is the main battleground on which the campaign will be fought — taxes and spending.

Both Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, the governor's only announced opponent in the May 8 Democratic primary, and State Auditor James A. Rhodes, who apparently has a clear track to the Republican nomination, have accepted that challenge from the incumbent.

McElroy Disagrees on Taxes

McElroy, who entered the gubernatorial picture after DiSalle's first decision, said then he agreed with the "humanitarian" aims of the governor's education, welfare and mental health programs but did not agree increased taxes are necessary to achieve them.

Rhodes' long-expected declaration for the governor's office just before Thanksgiving Day included a pledge to study the state's tax structure in terms of "desirable objectives" in education "as well as in other fields."

In his preliminary bout with McElroy, DiSalle undoubtedly will expand on his belief that sidestepping money needs, as McElroy indicated he would do, is not the way to carry the banner for the things the Democratic party stands for.

May Capitalize on Fight

If McElroy's original statement is a guide, he can be expected to try to capitalize on the governor's running fight with Republican legislators over spending and taxing.

His later bitter blasts at DiSalle's alleged encouragement of a "draft" move indicate he also will make an issue of party unity, charging dictatorial tactics by DiSalle have split Democratic ranks.

As the incumbent holding virtual pledges of support from Democratic leaders in most of the 88 counties, DiSalle is considered a heavy favorite over McElroy in the primary.

But a question mark rests over Cleveland, the attorney gneral's home town and bailiwick of Ray T. Miller, the governor's arch enemy in intraparty affairs.

How Much Is He Hurt?

And there is no doubt that DiSalle's long period of apparent indecisiveness and then change of mind has hurt him some. The question is how much.

If DiSalle wins renomination, he will meet a formidable opponent in Rhodes, who won his third term as auditor in 1960 by the biggest vote ever cast for an elected state officer.

With the state's spending accounts at his fingertips, Rhodes probably will rely heavily on the current low level of cash in Ohio's treasury to paint a picture of too much outgo.

DiSalle will counter, of course, with his argument that a state as wealthy as Ohio should be willing to pay the price of better education, mental hygiene, correction and welfare programs.

Appeal to Same Groups

Both will be appealing to the same general groups of voters—those interested in the programs, especially education on which the governor has focused attention.

Their argument will be over ways to pay for them.

It can be noted that DiSalle, in making his new decision known Friday, also proposed a study of the state's economy—by a bipartisan committee of politicians and citizens.

And he went a step further on the subject of taxes.

"It is possible to meet our problems . . . without drastic tax measures. This is possible on a pay-as-you-go basis.

"I am definitely and unalterably opposed to the imposition of an income tax in Ohio. But this will result in future years if we do not find a solution to our problems now."

Aiming a Reverse Twist

This apparently aims at putting a reverse twist on Republicans' favorite epithet for him — "Tax Hike Mike."

It also could be designed to draw Rhodes out more specifically on the subject of taxes.

But the veteran Republican campaigner has met such challenges before.

Certain is the fact that the coming campaigns, both primary and general, are going to be livelier now that DiSalle is in the ring—if the voters can be interested in the details of high government finance.

School Aid Cited As Split Standard

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Catholic bishop believes granting federal funds to public schools could cause only what he describes as a serious discrepancy between the educational standards of the two systems.

"The nation owes it to the 5.3 million children in Catholic schools that they do not receive a second-rate education," Auxiliary Bishop John J. Whealon told more than 1,400 members of the 14th annual convention of the Cleveland Diocesan Union of Holy Name Societies Sunday.

He said federal aid to education was the most serious problem facing the Catholic church in this country today. He urged the men to renew their interest in the subject.

Toledo Man Charged In Slaying At Tavern

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A 44-year-old Toledo man will be arraigned in Municipal Court today on first - degree murder charges stemming from the slaying of a tavern owner.

The victim, George Politis, 63, was shot and killed Saturday when he attempted to take a pistol from Isaac Williams. Williams and his estranged wife, Gloria, were arguing in the tavern Politis operated, George's Nite Club.

Convicted Spy Given Term In Israel Case

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) A top Israeli military commentator, was sentenced Sunday to 10 years in prison for spying for an unnamed foreign power. Apparently it was the Soviet Union.

Israel Beer, found guilty after a trial held mostly in secret, reportedly had declared after his arrest that he contacted agents of the foreign power because he believed that power would some day conquer the world.

Hearing Airs Canal's Plan

Arguments for and against an inland waterway to link Lake Erie and the Ohio River began to unfold today as the U. S. Corps of Engineers opened a public hearing at the Idora Park ballroom in Youngstown.

It's part of a $500,000 study authorized by Congress last year to determine whether the canal should be constructed between the Ohio River at Rochester and Ashtabula on Lake Erie.

Youngstown steel interests generally are in favor of the proposal, as it would open up their landlocked plants to the advantages of low-cost water transportation for raw materials and finished products. Railroads are lined up against the idea, asserting it would cost them millions of dollars annually in freight revenue and many of their employes would be laid off as a result.

Pittsburgh area steel mills apparently see the canal as a competitive advantage for plants in the Youngstown area. They're ready to fight the plan and have started a movement for another public hearing to be held in the Pittsburgh area. The Pittsburgh opponents claim today's hearing is "loaded" in favor of Youngstown.

The 103-mile waterway would link the Ohio and the lake via the Beaver and Mahoning Rivers and a Grand River reservoir.

The Mahoning Valley Industrial Council is one of the leaders in the fight for the waterway. Its president is a prominent Youngstown steelman.

On the other side is the Upper Ohio Valley Association, financed chiefly by railroad interests. Although the name is similar, it has no connection with the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council, which has taken no part in the controversy.

East Liverpool is not represented at today's hearing, which is expected to attract 1,000 and continue well into the late afternoon.

City Man Faces Count After Hancock Crash

A city motorist was cited on a charge of reckless driving in a two-car crash on Route 66 south of Newell Sunday afternoon, Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported.

Ralph E. Shaffer, 46, of 172 Thompson Ave. was cited after his car struck the rear of another driven by Roger R. Cline, 22, of New Cumberland, deputies said.

The sheriff's office reported the city motorist attempted to pass Cline's car, then spotted an approaching vehicle and swerved back into the north-bound lane.

Deputies listed $100 damage to Cline's 1962 car and $150 damage to the city man's 1959 sedan. Both were headed north when the mishap occured at 3:45 near Nessley Chapel. Shaffer posted $50 bond for a hearing today before Squire Harry Lytton of Newell.

Euclid Man, 54, Dies After Coronary Attack

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ray J. Turk, 54, former newspaper reporter and war correspondent, died Sunday at his home in Euclid. Death was attributed to a heart attack, the second he had suffered in the last six months.

Turk recently had returned to his work as director of development at St. Vincent Charity Hospital. He was aiding the hospital in its $7 million building fund drive. He was a native of Cleveland.
